PILOT DIES IN PLANE CRASH

Daniels Gets Clemency Hearing

ASK FOR AID—Mario Esquivel, Costa Rican ambassador to the United States, signs a complaint urging that the aggression clauses of the Rio de Janeiro treaty be invoked against Nicaragua for invasion of his Central American homeland. Members of the western hemisphere pact took his plea under advisement today.

Mother Cites New Evidence

Hearing Set For Dec. 21

A clemency hearing for Robert Murl Daniels, 24, convicted here last September of the three Niebel murders has been set for Dec. 21, it was announced today by the Ohio Pardon and Parole commission.

The youth's parents wrote a letter dated Dec. 4 to the commission asking for action by the governor for clemency. Officials of the commission said clemency hearings for persons sentenced to die were "almost routine."

There was no indication, commission officials said, of any new evidence to be presented at the hearing.

County Prosecutor Theodore Lutz said he would be present at the hearing.

In Columbus, Daniels' mother said:

"We have a letter from a woman who picked up Murl and West while they were hitch-hiking," she added. She says in the letter that West admitted doing all the killings. She said West boasted of the fact that he did the shooting.

"In the letter she also told me that West told her Murl passed out during the killing of the Niebel family and had to be helped from the field.

"We're going to reveal the full contents of the letter soon, then the people will see if Murl's guilty.

"There are other things that need explaining. That's just one of them."

Daniels, when captured, boasted of his part in all six of the murders and told newsmen:

"Give me credit for my share."

Filing of a court appeal that would at least delay Daniels' execution was believed unlikely, however.

Wacky Weather Hits City

The weatherman threw the book at Mansfield.

He served up yesterday a weird conglomeration of rain, fog, lightning, thunder, balmy breezes and promises "snow and much colder" for tomorrow.

Nine-tenths of an inch of rain fell here yesterday during a thunder and lightning storm shortly after noon.

In the evening a heavy fog blanketed Mansfield and most of the northern half of the state.

The mercury climbed to 47 at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, fell 10 degrees to 37 at 1:30 a. m. today, but was back to 46 degrees at noon today.

The weatherman said tonight would be cloudy and cooler. He said a low pressure area in Wyoming is moving toward Ohio and should bring rain tomorrow, changing to snow as the temperature drops.

Police in the midwestern fog belt reported visibility "at absolute zero." State highway patrols stopped motorists in some towns and warned them that the fog made travel impossible in the open country.

Some persons caught by the fog were housed for the night in the St. Joseph county jail at South Bend, Ind. Deputy Sheriff William Locks reported that he found one woman motorist who had stopped her car in the middle of a four-lane highway near South Bend when she "lost her nerve and just couldn't drive any farther in the fog."

In Oregon, floods drove almost 1,000 persons from their homes as the Willamette river, which flows through the state's most populated area, went above flood stage at many points.

'NO COMMENT,' MME. CHIANG CRIES—China's first lady, Mme. Chiang Kai-shek (left), and Mrs. George C. Marshall, wife of the U. S. secretary of state, leave Blair House in Washington after having tea with President Truman in the temporary executive mansion. Mme. Chiang carried her plea for emergency war aid for embattled China to Mr. Truman in the one-hour meeting. Asked by a reporter if she were successful, Mme. Chiang smiled grimly, then almost shouted: "No comment."

Step Aside, Men, Woman Is Best Liar

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Members of the Columbus Liars club called a lady a liar today, and she loved it. The liar—or the lady—is Mrs. Grayce Evans, who displaced Dwight E. Hilliard as the year's champion liar.

Here's the story which made her 1948 champ: "I went quail hunting with my uncle in Kentucky. The bird dog froze and my uncle yelled 'flush'. Up went one quail which I shot.

"Each time my uncle yelled 'flush' one quail went up, so I asked him why they didn't all fly up at once.

"'You see, when the dog circled, he ran all the quail down a gopher hole. He kept his foot over the hole and let only one quail out each time I yelled!'"

Tiny Ship Falls Near Johnsville

Wellington Flier Mishap Victim

A 36-year-old Wellington, O., farm implement dealer was killed about 9 a. m. today when his two-seater plane crashed in a wheat field about 10 miles south of Mansfield in Morrow county.

The victim, John Joseph Navratil, died instantly when the engine of the plane was driven back into the cockpit, state highway patrolmen said.

Investigating officers said the small plane crashed on the William S. Ferguson farm, apparently when the pilot became lost in the fog and attempted to land.

The body was not identified until some time after the crash.

Patrolmen said the rough terrain caused the little Cessna craft to bounce and crash nose-down on a knoll.

The Ferguson farm is about three miles northwest of Johnsville and one mile from State Route 314.

HEARD CRASH

Ferguson said he and his son, Richard, heard the crash. Both ran to the plane and found Navratil dead in the plane. The crash occurred about a quarter of a mile from the Ferguson home. Richard Ferguson called the Mansfield airport first, thinking the plane might have left there.

First report of the crash was given to The News-Journal by Clayton Tschantz, manager of Richland Aviation. He said Dr. M. D. Harnly, Mansfield flying enthusiast, had reported hearing the plane flying low over the city about 8:50 a. m.

Dr. Harnly told the airport office the plane appeared to be lost and he feared it might crash. The airport received a report of the crash a short time later.

Members of the victim's family said he left Wellington early this morning on a business trip to Columbus.

The pilot, reportedly an excellent flier and civilian flight instructor during the war, was the owner of the Navratil Implement Sales at Wellington. He was active in Wellington Chamber of Commerce affairs. He was married.

The body was removed to the Craven funeral home in Mt. Gilead pending arrangements.

Seek Principal's Recall

Kids Get Vacation While Elders Argue

TWINSBURG—(AP)—This Summit county community's 458 grade and high school pupils had an unexpected holiday today while their elders engaged in a dispute over administration of school affairs.

Latest development in the controversy, climaxed last week by the resignation of high school Principal Glen Powell and all 17 faculty members, was circulation of petitions by a civic group seeking recall of all five school board members.

The recall petitions are being circulated by the Real Estate Owners' association, which for some time has been critical of the school administration and which last week demanded Powell's resignation.

"We need the signatures of 15 per cent of those who voted here in the election for governor," said Oscar Shupe, a trustee of the Real Estate Owners' association. He said 150 signatures would be required.

Another group of citizens championing the school board organized Saturday night and announced an open session would be held Wednesday night in the school.

Shupe said he would attend the meeting of the opposing faction and added he was asking all members of the real estate group to do likewise.

"We might as well all get in the same room and get this ironed out," Shupe commented.

STUDENTS STRIKE

The school dispute first flared last month when high school pupils staged a three-day strike in protest against what they termed Powell's "high-handed tactics."

The controversy shifted to a justice of the peace court last week when Powell was held to the Summit county common pleas court on a charge of assault and battery of a pupil.

John Hegedish, operator of an automobile repair garage, charged that his son, Ronald, 16, was slammed against a blackboard by Powell.

The entire faculty then declared teaching was impossible under the circumstances and submitted resignations, citing outside interference as the cause.

The school board tabled the mass resignations but announced that school could not open until "some manifestation of community sentiment" made school sessions possible.

Costa Rican Heads Rush To Mobilize

Invasion Forces Drive On Capital

SAN JOSE, C. R. —(UP)—Costa Rica rushed to mobilize its recently disbanded army today to repel an invasion force of some 1,500 troops from Nicaragua who have driven 30 miles across the frontier toward San Jose.

Latest reports from the fighting front said the invasion force was concentrated at Liberia, 100 miles northwest of San Jose and 30 miles inside the Costa Rican frontier.

Press reports said the invasion, which was launched yesterday, was reinforced by 300 Mexican communists.

Reports from the front said the invaders were wearing shoulder patches identifying them as the "Costa Rican Constitutional Commandos." President Jose Figueres insisted, however, that there were only a few Costa Ricans among the invaders. The bulk of the troops, he said, were from the Nicaraguan national guard.

Meanwhile, representatives of 15 American republics were consulting their governments today on whether to invoke the new western hemisphere defense pact in the invasion of Costa Rica.

Costa Rica demanded that the treaty be invoked. An authoritative source in San Jose, the Costa Rican capital, said the Central American country might withdraw from the organization of American states if no action is taken on its complaint.

Bad Weather Halts Mock Air Attack

The 160-mile bomb run, scheduled Sunday for active air reserves of five north-central Ohio cities, was called off because of bad weather, Maj. James R. McConnell of Mansfield's 321st Bomb group, said today.

Maj. McConnell said the maneuvers have been re-scheduled for this coming Sunday, using the same personnel.

Called into action for the maneuvers will be 12 planes from the local bomb group, 12 from both the 82nd Troop Carrier squadron of Columbus and the 433rd Troop Carrier squadron of Akron, and six planes from the 445th Bomb Squadron of Toledo.

The run, to be rehearsed in full air force regulations, will feature targets at the Wheeling air field and the railway bridge at Steubenville.

Red Attack Gains Speed

NANKING —(AP)— Chiang Kai-shek's grim watch on the Yangtze is coming sooner than expected.

With a Chinese communist attack reported only 50 miles northwest of this capital, government military sources said Red infiltration and heavy Nationalist losses may soon force abandonment of the Hwai river defense line. That would shove national defenses back to the Yangtze river.

These sources reported that more than 50,000 troops of the government's long encircled 12th army group have been wiped out southwest of Suhsien, about 145 miles northwest of Nanking.

The 12th, which originally numbered some 110,000 now has been compressed into an area of less than four square miles. Its critical shortage of supplies is worsening. Pilots report difficulty in dropping material into the shrinking target area.

King George Better

LONDON, — (INS) — A bulletin issued by Buckingham palace physicians said today that King George "has made substantial progress" in the fight to regain his health. The British ruler, who will be 53 tomorrow, is suffering from a circulatory ailment of the legs.

Brighten A Christmas

Simple Gifts Will Cheer Their Holiday

Living in a trailer on Mansfield's east side is a small family, consisting of the parents, both in their early twenties, and their two youngsters, a fourteen-month-old boy and a three-month-old girl.

The father is regularly employed, but there has been a series of doctor bills for the children and while there will be enough food for the family for Christmas, they need new clothing for the two youngsters, and perhaps a toy or two.

A blind man and his wife are receiving monthly benefits from the Aid for the Blind program, but a few remembrances for both would make Christmas a bit merrier this year.

Another blind man, who lives alone, will receive a Christmas basket from the Salvation Army but a few small gifts from some kind friends would add to his enjoyment of the day.

A middle-aged couple residing on the east side will be unable to give their children much in the way of Christmas because his pay check isn't sufficient to provide toys and clothing for their eight children, the oldest of whom is 14 and the youngest, seven months. There are two older children working, but even the addition of their paychecks isn't enough.

Another large family on the north side of town face the same problem. Their children include youngsters of two, four, six, eight, eleven, thirteen, fourteen, and a new baby. The father is employed regularly and is able to provide the food for his family on Christmas day, but the giving of any gifts is impossible.

If you could help "Brighten the Christmas" of any of these families, call Mrs. Margaret Mattox at 4251-6, the News-Journal office, daily except Sundays, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m.

New Strife Hits Plant

COLUMBUS. — (AP) — A fourth flare-up of violence in the three-month strike at the American Zinc Oxide company plant today injured five workers, including one plant official.

Police reported eight men in one auto waylaid the men on their way to work a short distance from the plant. The attackers, said police, beat the five men with iron bars and clubs.

They identified the injured as: H. H. Black, 47, assistant plant superintendent; Silas Williamson, 52, Bob Chaudoin, 57; Lucien Girard, and Earl Fink.

The men received head lacerations and cut hands. Black and Williamson were treated at University hospital; the others received aid on the scene.

FOUR JAPS SENTENCED

YOKOHAMA — (AP) — Four admirals of the Japanese navy today were sentenced to prison terms ranging from eight to 20 years for responsibility in the deaths of more than 800 persons.

Defeated Russians Flay West

Vichinsky Raps U. S., Britain

PARIS — (AP) — Russia—bitter over the drubbing she has taken in the United Nations general assembly—dropped diplomatic niceties last night to issue a no-compromise warning to the west.

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister, attacked Britain and the United States in the closing minutes of the Paris assembly.

That part of the session usually is reserved for expressions of praise and hopeful thoughts for the future. John Foster Dulles, acting chairman of the U. S. delegation, led off in traditional fashion.

But Vishinsky strode to the rostrum and reviewed every case in which the Russians had fought the west.

This is not the time, he said, for "paeans of praise."

He said the session would be described in history as one which took further steps toward a policy of wrecking international cooperation.

The assembly adjourned at 6:11 p. m. (12:11 p. m., EST), to meet again in New York April 1, 1949 ot complete its work.

Vishinsky's outburst came soon after the Russian bloc had taken a severe beating in the assembly. The delegates voted 48 to six with one abstention (Sweden) to endorse the government of the republic of Korea (South Korea).

The vote also continued a U. N. Korean commission and instructed it to seek again to unify Korea. Russia has barred the U. N. commission from northern Korea, where she has set up a "people's republic."

Vishinsky, who has lost every major fight with the west in the assembly, tried vainly to do away with the Korean commission. On this proposal, too, the vote was 46 to six against him.

The end of the Paris assembly, the longest so far in the world body's history, found the western powers and Russia further apart than ever.

'Scanty' Gym Attire Shocks Boy Preacher

CHILLICOTHE. — (INS) — A juvenile court summoned 15-year-old preacher John Damit today to explain how middy blouses and shorts spell "sin."

John, son of a Methodist pastor and himself a revival meeting preacher, rebelled against attending gym classes in high school because of the "sinful" scanty attire worn by boys and girls.

But Chillicothe's school board, which spells "sin" differently, has obtained a juvenile court hearing against John because of his technical truancy.

Bulletin

NEW YORK—(AP)—Alger Hiss, a principal in the Soviet spy investigation, submitted his resignation as head of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace today, but trustees tabled the resignation. He was granted a three-month leave of absence.

Salary Bill Called Legal

In a written legal opinion, City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch ruled today that the police and firemen's pay increase ordinance is bona fide in all aspects and has been operative since Dec. 3.

The ruling was requested by Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison. He asked for it in order to clarify the question of whether the Dec. 15 police and firemen's payroll should be drawn up under the salary schedule in the new ordinance or under the old schedule.

Kalbfleisch said the new law, embodying increases of from 29 to 45 per cent, is in effect and will remain so until changed or amended by council, if council decided to vote on the bill.

Garrison originally approved the payroll and delivered it to City Auditor Paul Kelley under the old schedule, but upon reconsidering the matter, decided to get an opinion from Kalbfleisch on the status of the law.

The bill approved by voters on Nov. 2, gives patrolmen wage boosts from $230 to $300 a month. Other ranks were granted comparable increases.

Matson, Fighter Against Cancer 'Hush', Succumbs

CLEVELAND—(UP)—Carlton K. Matson, associate editor of the Cleveland Press who four months ago slashed at the shrouds of secrecy surrounding cancer when he frankly discussed his own affliction with it, died early today.

The popular 58-year-old writer met death quietly and peacefully at his suburban home here. His wife, Ruth, was at his bedside.

Matson had been cheerful and alert yesterday after returning from an overnight stay at Lakeside hospital where he was given a final blood transfusion.

Millions of people throughout the nation read Matson's famous editorial openly discussing his affliction with cancer when it was reprinted in the magazine Readers' Digest.

"I've decided to write a piece which will be quite shocking to some people," he wrote in a weekly column titled "Strictly Personal But Important to Everybody." "But it shouldn't be—I'm writing it because I think it's time that some history be made by being as frank as I'm going to be here today."

"I was told the other day that the back injury which has been bothering me for months involves a malignancy. In plain language, my friends, that, of course, means cancer.

"What I want to do is to strike a blow against this mysterious paralyzing hush-hush that surrounds every case of cancer. I don't want anybody to ask, 'Does he know what he's got?'

"Also I don't want good friends of mine feeling cautious and apprehensive about talking to me about anything and everything, including cancer. If my life on earth must be foreshortened—as certainly seems possible at this moment—I want every particle that's left of it wide open and uninhibited to the freest intercourse I know with all good souls."

Born in Kingsville, O., Aug. 8, 1890, Matson started his newspaper career on the Springfield, Mass., Daily News after graduating from Oberlin college and Columbia university.

Subsequently he worked for the New York Evening Mail, the New York Journal, and the Cleveland Plain Dealer. He had been editor of the Toledo News-Bee and the Buffalo Times.

Jungle Yields American Girl

GUAM —(AP)— Raped and left for dead, pretty Ruth Farnsworth was found unconscious in the jungle today near the small curio shop from which she vanished mysteriously Saturday night.

The 27-year-old San Francisco beauty was found nude in a pool of blood in dense bushes about 200 yards behind the shop, where she worked part time.

Hospital attaches reported 12 hours later she was clinging to life. Guam authorities said she had been seized by a gang of "sex fiends," criminally assaulted and beaten. They said she apparently put up a terrific struggle.

Kidnaping Suspect Gives Up to Police

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Jack D. Fleming, 24, Columbus, kept his date with the police yesterday and surrendered to face armed robbery and kidnaping charges.

His companion, Raymond Grambo, 30, also of Columbus, was arrested last week. Fleming announced Saturday he would surrender Sunday at Union Station.

NOTED PRODUCER DIES

NEW YORK—(AP)—Rowland Stebbins, 66, stock broker and producer of "The Green Pastures," a tremendous stage success, died last night.

A Few Seconds In 12 Years

Tragic Mishap Spoils Regained Sight

NEW YORK—(UP)—For an instant there was sunlight on the ceiling of his room and blind Clarence Peddicord could see again.

Then a pair of scissors came at his eye. He jerked his head. Darkness closed in and once more he was blind.

That was the result of the operation for which the 31-year-old Peddicord hitch-hiked 2,500 miles from Portland, Ore., to New York in the hope he could regain his sight after 12 years of blindness.

"It was wonderful for a minute," he said. "The doctor took the bandages off. I opened my eyes. The miracle I had spent 12 long years waiting for had happened. I could see!

"But before I could adjust myself, I suddenly saw the points of scissors coming right at my eye. The doctor was only going to cut the stitches, but I didn't know that. I jerked my head back. That jarred my eye. It began bleeding inside and I was blind again."

The noted physician told Peddicord that he regretted the outcome. But he said as soon as the eyes have healed from the operation he will perform another and that he is sure it will be successful.

Peddicord was blinded in 1936 by the sulphur fumes from a refrigerator. He and his wife, Dorothy, who can see, struggled along from year to year. But early last summer they were broke.

"We had sold most of our furniture to buy food," Peddicord said.

The New York eye specialist offered Peddicord the possibility of restoring his eyesight by transplanting new corneas into his eyes.

So he scraped together $7 and set off carrying his cane and a bag of cheese sandwiches. He spent most of his money buying gasoline for the motorists who gave him rides. He was broke by the time he reached Chicago. A benefactor paid his transportation the rest of the way to New York.

The operations took a long time. The first one on the left eye seemed promising, but there was no reaction. Then came the one on the right eye, and the brief moment of sunlight.

War Surplus Tent Stakes Furnish Businessman With Super-Headache

NEW YORK—(AP)—I know a man who's got 7,700,000—and he's complaining.

But R. W. ("Rocky") Johnson doesn't have 7,700,000 dollars. He has 7,700,000 tent stakes.

And that's why he's complaining. He's a one-man monopolist with a monopoly nobody seems to want—tent stakes. And Rocky, a Kansas City businessman, owns a mountain of 'em.

"Enough," gloomed the nation's unwilling tent stake king, "to stretch about 2600 miles, or from Cleveland to Seattle."

Rocky's troubles began last May while he was traveling about the country buying war surplus materials. At New Orleans an official of the War Assets Administration told him:

"At Shreveport we've got 8,500,000 surplus tent stakes. It's a real bargain. Think of all the things they could be used for."

Rocky agreed it was a rare opportunity. He rushed to Shreveport and found the tent stakes. They had cost the government $898,000 — better than a dime apiece. Rocky got them for a fraction of a cent each.

"But you have to move them out in 90 days," he was warned.

Rocky looked at his tent stakes again. They were in boxes in a stack 15 feet high, 30 feet wide. And the stack stretched a half mile.

"Eighty-nine days later I got the last of 'em moved to the other side of town by a planing mill," Rocky sighed. "But I was twenty pounds lighter and had 400 new gray hairs.

"Meanwhile, I had been thinking what to do with them. Everybody thought good seasoned oak tent stakes would be fine for a lot of things. So did I. But for what?"

Half the tent pegs were 24 inches long, half were 16 inches.

"First I talked to the tent manufacturers," Rocky recalled. "It turned out that 8,500,000 tent stakes were enough to last them 50 years—and they don't buy that far ahead."

On the other hand there weren't enough to make it profitable to set up a factory to turn them into hardwood flooring.

How about making them into surveyor's sticks? Too costly. Croquet posts? No market there either. How about turning them into small picket fences? The tent stakes were too heavy and thick.

"I couldn't sell them for firewood because they burn too fast," mourned Rocky. "I was willing to donate a big batch to the boy scouts — but it would've cost me more to ship them than I paid for 'em."

About then Rocky learned that an army depot at Memphis had 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 small pup tent pegs for sale.

"As far as I was concerned they'd stay for sale forever," he said. "I doubt if any man in history every owned as many tent pegs as I did—and I certainly didn't want any more."

The only way Rocky has found so far to get out from under his investment is to manufacture his tent stakes into camp stools. Each takes eight pegs and some canvas.

"That left me the job of finding 1,062,500 people who wanted to sit on a camp stool," he said. "So far I've only found 100,000."

But this used up 800,000 tent stakes—leaving him only 7,700,000 to go. One reason Rocky wants to pull up stakes and get out of the tent stake business is to give him time to work out another small personal problem.

"I also bought 70,000 steel files to sharpen saws," he sighed. "And you'd be surprised how few people are sharpening saws this year."

Miss Beer Wins Speech Honors

East Mansfield Girl Tops 4 Speakers

Miss Joanne Beer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Beer, East Mansfield, was the winner last night in the annual Prince of Peace contest for Richland county contestants at the First Evangelical UB church in Mansfield.

Carole Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chalmer Snyder of Pavonia, won second prize.

Miss Beer, a student at Madison high school, spoke on the subject, "Which Is It?"

"It is the choice of the American people to decide which they want — peace or war," Miss Beer declared.

She and Miss Snyder were two of five contestants who competed for county honors after winning contests in their own communities.

Miss Snyder, a student at Union Rural high school, chose the subject, "Do You Want Peace?"

For winning the county contest last night, Miss Beer will be given a silver medal from the Ohio Council of Churches, sponsoring organization of the annual Prince of Peace contests.

She will enter the district contest to be held in January. Should she win that debate, she will go to the state contest in Columbus.

Other contestants in last night's debate were Rosalee Rogers, Lexington; Della Laser, Shiloh, and Sara Rader, Butler.

Rev. E. W. Welch, pastor of the East Mansfield United Presbyterian church, was the Richland county chairman. At last night's meeting, Rev. V. C. Stamets, pastor of the First Evangelical UB church, presided.

Yule Spirit Produces Results For McClains

Gifts Pour In For Fire Victims

By NITA BRANSON

The Christmas star is still shining for the R. H. McClain family, in spite of a fire 10 days ago which destroyed their home on the Cairns road, north of the city.

Today, Mr. and Mrs. McClain were counting their blessings in tangible gifts from neighbors and friends and interested Mansfield residents who have proffered contributions ranging from food and clothing to an electric refrigerator.

One of the nicest Christmas gifts to come their way was a receipted bill for $250 worth of furniture they had purchased from Bing's Furniture store, West Fourth street. William A. Clay, manager of the store, marked their bill paid in full.

Their gifts include an almost complete layette for the baby which is expected soon; a refrigerator in good working condition; twin beds, a bedroom suite, and innumerable gifts of clothing, canned food and toys for the children.

And topping their gifts, like icing on a Christmas cookie, is a house in which to store their furniture until they can find a home to rent.

W. J. Sells of Galion, who owns a house just down the road from the Floyd McClain home in Little Washington where Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McClain and their children are staying, has offered them the use of the house free of rent.

ANOTHER CHRISTMAS GIFT—Among the gifts for the R. H. McClain family was one from the Bing Furniture company, which canceled a bill for $250. William A. Clay, right, manager, gives Mrs. McClain the "paid in full" receipt for the amount. Her husband stands at the left, a little overwhelmed by this latest display of generosity on the part of Christmas donors.

Although the household at the Floyd McClain home is a little crowded these days, they are all looking forward to Christmas day with its tree and a good dinner.

WATERFALL MYSTERY—

O. C. Kalbfleisch, water department superintendent is trying to solve the mystery of the City building waterfalls. Yesterday morning police noted water cascading down the steps from the second floor of the building. Kalbfleisch was called. He turned off the main valve and upon examination found that the entire second floor was covered with water and it was running down the steps both in the front and rear of the building. In order to find the leak, he reopened the valve, but the water didn't run again. One theory has it that the water came from a leaky downspout. Another that steam or water pipes inside the wall are broken.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY—

Although William E. Flynn is celebrating his birthday today, on the 13th, that date holds no fears for him. Only once in his life, Flynn says, has his birthday fallen on Friday. Flynn, associated with his father-in-law, E. K. Bacon in the Superior Brass company as vice-president and superintendent, has lived in Mansfield since he was a child. He is a member of the Rotary club and the First Presbyterian church. Likes to play golf when he can find time. A family dinner with Flynn's mother, Mrs. E. D. Flynn, as the guest, was his birthday celebration yesterday.

GANG STYLE—

B-B shots through the windows of an Ashland road residence and an East Fourth street hotel fired from a car in Chicago gangland fashion were reported to police last night. At 10 p. m. Mrs. Goldie Mulberg, 85 Ashland road, who said B-B shot had penetrated her living room window. At 11:55 p. m. Ralph Bunting, night manager of the Brunswick hotel, 36 East Fourth street, reported that B-B's had been fired through the front window of the hotel from a passing car.

Concerts Highlight Yuletide

Children's Home Schedules Event

By CATHERINE RORICK
(N-J Staff Correspondent)

GALION — An estimated 700 musicians will participate in a unique and spectacular Christmas observance beginning here tomorrow night and continuing each evening through Dec. 23.

The project was conceived and inaugurated by Marvin O. Adams, superintendent of the Crawford County Children's Home, and Mrs. Adams "in an effort to get away from commercialization and bring to the children something of the real meaning of Christmas."

In the nightly concerts various choral and musical groups of the vicinity will appear on a program at the Home. The music will go over amplifiers, enabling the public within a radius of several blocks to hear the music. It is expected that some seven to eight hundred musicians will be heard on the schedule, as groups are composed of 20 to 70 members each. They will appear on an enclosed platform which is being constructed on the two-acre lot in front of the Home.

An impressive setting for the musical background will be the nativity scene which will be placed on the lot adjacent to the platform.

Not only the 62 children who live at the Home will hear the program each evening, but all citizens of the community and neighboring towns are invited to attend. Both the Galion police department and the Crawford county sheriff are cooperating in handling traffic. Cars may park along the highway, and in case the ground is frozen enough, there will be parking space on the lot near the platform.

To supplement the music by the choral groups, some of the pastors of the churches will speak, and on the night of Dec. 22, Mrs. Ralph Spaid of the Crawford County Child Welfare staff, will tell the Christmas story.

While it was impossible to contact all choirs and musical groups of the community to take part in the project, Adams said that in event any others wish to participate, a place on the schedule will be provided for the group. Many choirs have been in rehearsal for weeks for their programs. Some will be robed, and some will have processionals, Adams said.

The schedule is as follows: Dec. 14, 7 to 7:30 p. m., the Children's Home Glee club, 7:30 to 8, First Reformed choir of Galion; Dec. 15, 7 to 7:30, Bucyrus First Methodist and the Lemert Concorn Youth choir; 7:30 to 8, Galion First Lutheran choir; Dec. 16, 7 to 7:30, Grace Episcopal choir of Galion, 7:30 to 8, choir of St. Joseph's church of Galion; Dec. 17, 7 to 7:30, American Legion Band of Galion, 7:30 to 8, The Turner Chapel choir, A. Despite Minor Differences, Ties Are Strong Between U. S.-England

SINCE 1940 a British diplomat in the U. S. has served his King and Country well. It is his job to make friends for the Empire—and keep them, too. Many times (in the heat of argument) we wished the U.S.A. had men like him (all over the world) doing the same job for our nation. He is Major C. B. Ormerod. He just sent London clippings on Gen. Eisenhower's book to show that only one dissenter attacked it—the others praised it and Ike highly.

"You mustn't take things so seriously, Walter," writes the Major. "Try and put yourself in my shoes—if they fit! I'm so used to having the British Lion's tail twisted (often by you!) that I just brush it off (get his U. S. slang!) and concentrate on fundamentals; namely, the unbreakable ties which bind our two peoples together whenever we face a common foe.

"If occasionally the American Eagle's tail feathers get tweaked a bit too hard, it only tends to even things up! All the best, Bill."

Bill, all joking aside. Do you think the American Goose will ever replace the old-fashioned British Handshake?

Mailing Still Slow

Postal Workers Waiting For Rush

The Mansfield postal workers are still waiting for the Christmas mailing rush which was supposed to have started today.

"We're all set to go but as yet the rush hasn't started." Acting Postmaster Curtis L. Ford said. "There's been a slight increase in parcel post, but nothing to compare with this time last year.

"I suppose," he added, "it means that at the last minute everyone will start sending mail and we'll be swamped.

On the corresponding Monday of last year, the post office had 85 extra men working to care for the Christmas rush and were using 13 trucks. Today only 20 extra men had been called in to care for the extra mail and only 10 trucks were being used.

"I want to urge that people get started if they want their mail to get delivered before Christmas," Ford said. "Mail sent at the last minute can't be expected to arrive before the holiday."

Although there will be about 125 extra men working at the post office before the holidays are over, so far only 15 have been added to the postal staff, Ford said.

Coach at Lucas Resigns Post

13 File Petitions For Soil Posts

Nominating petitions from 13 candidates for five soil conservation supervisors have been received by the county agricultural extension office, County Agent C. N. McGrew announced today.

Petitions for the nominees required the signatures of 25 landowners. Election will be held Saturday. Voting will take place at the following locations: Shenandoah Grange Hall, Shelby township building, Lucas High school, Bellville fire station, and the county agricultural extension office.

The polling places will be open from 1 p. m. to 7 p. m. Richland county landowners will be eligible to vote.

Candidates for the five posts are Roscoe D. Hutchinson, Plymouth; Clarence Riggle, Plymouth, Carl Baker, Weller; L. L. Rinehart, Sandusky: Russell Myers, Franklin; Waldo Crum, Sharon; A. A. Mellick, Cass; Warren Smith, Butler; John Simmons, Perry; Kenneth Nixon, Madison; A. L. Lockheart, Troy; Harvey Snyder, Worthington; and Morris Fisher, Troy.

DIRECT PROGRAM

The five supervisors to be elected next Saturday will administer the conservation program for the county. Their work will be to make surveys and investigations pertaining to soil erosion, in cooperation with the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station.

They will develop plans, tailored to fit Richland county's needs, for the conservation of soil resources, and for the prevention of soil erosion.

They will enter into agreements with occupants of land to carry out soil conservation operations. The five men will serve without pay.

Richland county voted to form a soil conservation district by a special election held last October among farm land owners.

Sixty-four of Ohio's 88 counties have soil conservation districts. Among they are Ashland, Huron, Crawford, Morrow, Knox, Marion and Holmes counties.

2 Injured In Crashes

A Mansfield woman and a Delaware man were injured in separate traffic accidents early today in the Mansfield area, police and state highway patrolmen reported.

Admitted to General hospital with scalp wounds was Mrs. Paul Massey, 49, of Mansfield, R. D. 6, injured at 1:20 a. m. when the car in which she was riding collided with a parked truck in front of 382 West Fourth street.

Police said it was the only personal injury sustained in a series of 14 "fender bender" mishaps in the city during the week end.

Driver of the car, George Elkins, Mansfield, R. D. 6, told police he was racing with another car and that he failed to negotiate the curve on West Fourth street just prior to striking the truck. The truck is owned by the Malone Plumbing company.

Cited to municipal court today on a charge of unsafe operation, Elkins was fined $15 and costs when he pleaded guilty to the charge.

Also injured early today was Wilbur Stone, 54, of Delaware, who suffered a shoulder injury when his car slid from the highway and into a ditch, one-half mile east of Mansfield on U.S. Route 30 at 1:30 a. m.

Highway patrolmen said Stone was treated at General hospital and released. A passenger in the car, Roger Sturgeon, 28, also of Delaware, escaped injury.

Reformatory Escapers Caught Walking Along Railway Tracks

Two Mansfield reformatory inmates, who escaped the institution farm Sunday afternoon, were apprehended a short time later while walking along the Erie railroad tracks, approximately two miles from the farm.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke identified the inmates as Dale Haning, 24, and James Conner, 23, both of Montgomery county. Haning is serving a one-to-20-year sentence for auto theft and Conner a one-to-25-year sentence for robbery.

Also returned during the week end were, Robert Smith, 24, of Cuyahoga county, apprehended in Stanford, Tex., after illegal freedom of more than four years; and William Ormand, 19, of Cuyahoga county, who escaped from the Grafton honor camp Saturday.

Glattke said Smith escaped from the institution on Aug. 14, 1944, while serving a 10-to-25-year sentence for robbery. Arrested by Stanford police, Smith waived extradition and was returned to the reformatory.

Ormand was received at Grafton on May 13, 1948, to serve one to 15 years for burglary.

Glattke said all four will appear in institution court Tuesday morning. All are expected to be given the usual two years' additional penalty for apprehended escape.

Michigan State Voted Into Conference

Official Entry Will Be Early Next Year

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

CHICAGO—(INS)—It's the Big Ten again!

Michigan State is in!

The East Lansing, Mich., school won unanimous approval of Western conference faculty representatives at their Chicago meeting yesterday.

The Spartans' official entrance to what is now called the Big Nine will await only certification by a conference committee. The certification will depend on whether Michigan State follows all prescribed rules and regulations, scholastically, for conference membership. State apparently does

IN NEXT YEAR

Thus, whenever the three-man Western conference committee gets around to meeting with Michigan State authorities—probably in the early months of next year—the Spartans will be in officially.

They were not able to sit in today when the nine Western conference schools mapped their football schedules for 1950, 1951 and 1952. Some complainants objected bitterly and insisted that Michigan State won't have thereby a real claim to conference membership until 1953, when it can play a full conference football slate.

But it wasn't as bad as all that. Having been assured of conference membership, Michigan State can go out and schedule football opponents such as Purdue, Iowa, Minnesota, etc.

Those can't be called "conference games" now, but once State is officially a Big Ten member, those already scheduled contests must be conference games. They can't be anything else.

ALL NORMAL PRIVILEGES

Michigan State will be affected hardly at all in other sports, which are scheduled on a year-to-year basis. In addition, effective from the date it officially becomes a member of the Western conference, State will hold all normal conference-school privileges, including a voting franchise at loop meetings.

Admission of the Spartans was announced by Kenneth Little of the University of Wisconsin, chairman of the Western conference's board of faculty representatives.

Little said two applications—one from Michigan State and one from Pittsburgh—were before the faculty men, who first voted as to whether they desired to expand their conference. After deciding they did, the faculty representatives went unanimously for Michigan State, and took no action on Pitt.

Ten Under Par At Miami Wins For Stranahan

MIAMI, Fla. —(INS)— Frank Stranahan's par-busting golf brought the Miami open championship to the Toledo amateur today.

The spark plug heir topped a field of the nation's best pros in the 25th annual tournament by four strokes as he blazed through the 72-hole event with a sizzling 10-under-par 270.

Stranahan slipped to a par 70 on the final 18 yesterday to add to consecutive cards of 66-66-68 on the first three rounds.

Chick Harbert blew up on the last 18 and shot a two-over 72 after firing a record 62 in the third round. His total of 274, however, gave the Detroit pro first prize money of $2,000 in the $10,000 competition.

Toney Penna of Cincinnati and Steve Warga of Miami were deadlocked behind Harbert at 276.

Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., the pre-tourney favorite, settled for a three-way tie in fourth place at 277 with Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Herman Keiser of Akron, O.

MANGRUM 280

Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., followed with a 279 while Pete Cooper of Ponte Vedra, Fla., and Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago settled for 280's—even par.

Mangrum needed to finish much further up in the money to pass Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., who was not entered, in the PGA's race for money-winning honors for the year.

Cardinals Get Up Off Ground To Spill 'Mighty' Bears, 24-21

CHICAGO—(INS)—Ah, but it happened. The Chicago Cardinals did it again.

The Cards stand once more as proud titlists in the western division of the National Football league. Just as they defeated the favored crosstown Bears to win the crown last year, so they did again yesterday, 24 to 21, to capture the title before 52,283 fans—an all-time Wrigley field record.

And as the Cards played the Philadelphia Eagles for the league championship a year ago (the Cards won it, 28 to 21), so will they play the Eagles in Philadelphia next Sunday for the 1948 N.F.L. pennant.

Yesterday, the Bears marched 77 yards to a touchdown in 13 plays the first time they got the ball. Johnny Lujack didn't miss a pass in the whole first quarter for the Bears. They were merciless. They fooled the Cardinals, passed them silly, hurt them and taunted them.

The Bears led, 14 to 3, at the half.

After the Cards recovered an attempted onside kickoff and swept to a touchdown to start the second half, the Bears smashed back with one of their own to send Charlie Trippi over from four yards away and draw to 21 to 17.

With less than 12 minutes to play, the Bears were ahead, 21 to 10. They had done nothing wrong. They couldn't do anything wrong.

Oh, brother. They couldn't, huh?

What occurred in that last 12 minutes of play had seldom happened on any other football field. The Cardinals became a team possessed. They slammed 85 yards.

Then, two plays after they kicked off, Cardinals Center Vince Banonis intercepted a Lujack pass and thundered 22 yards to the Bear 19. Three plays later Elmer Angsman ran 12 yards to score and put the Cards in front.

The Bears, with Sid Luckman assuming the quarterbacking duties, roared back to the Card 14, the big play in the march being a 38-yard pass from Luckman to minute J. R. Boone. George McAfee went a yard to the 13.

Luckman faded to throw a pass. He lobbed it into the end zone, and three Cardinals were there waiting for it. Red Cochran did the interception honors, and the Cards, with first down and ten on their own 20 and three minutes to go, ran out the clock with a tremendous ground assault. They were on the Bears' ten yard line when time ran out.

Last Quarter Rally Brings Buffalo Win

BALTIMORE — (UP) — Buffalo's Coach Red Dawson insisted today that he'll make no special preparations for the All-America conference championship game against Cleveland, and a review of the Bills' 28-17 eastern division title victory over Baltimore shows that he needs none.

Buffalo will meet the Browns for the AAC title next Sunday afternoon in Cleveland's Municipal stadium.

All Dawson can do is turn loose George Ratterman's passing attack and hope for the best.

That best quite often is wondrous Ratterman passed to three touchdowns yesterday in leading the Bills to their playoff victory over Baltimore, and one of these TD tosses brought Buffalo from behind in the last three minutes of play.

RATTERMAN ROUGH

It was Ratterman who wreaked the most damage on the ambitious Colts.

Trailing 17-7, Ratterman set his sights again, and Buffalo scored three touchdowns in the fourth period to win. Two of the scores came in the last three minutes. The first tally came when Ratterman tossed from his own 34 to Bill Gompers who caught the ball on the Baltimore 40 and raced the rest of the way to the end zone. The second TD—the one which won the game—came with three minutes left to play, a 25-yard Ratterman pass to Alton Baldwin.

Please Santa: Wont' You Bring Home My Daddy

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Donna Black, six-year-old daughter of Cleveland Indians' hurler Don Black, believes in Santa Claus as much as any other young girl.

That's why she wrote a letter to "Santa Claus comes to town" which Cleveland postal authorities noted yesterday asks that Santa "bring daddy home" from Charity hospital.

Black, stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage during the latter part of the baseball season, has been confined to the hospital the past two weeks following a delicate operation to remove a weak spot in an artery in his brain.

Yuncker's-Hardware Clash Features City 'A' Games

The five-way tie in the City A basketball league will be cracked up somewhat tonight when two of the teams collide in the three-game program at John Simpson gym.

Yuncker's Sports and Martin Hardware, both having two victories and one defeat, will tangle at 7 p. m. in the opening and feature game of the card. Urschel Insurance, another one of the leaders, will meet Richland Beverage at 8 while a fourth leader, Roger's Jewelry, takes on Komito's Clothing at 9 p. m.

★

Three games are also set for the American "B" league at Senior high. Four team—Mansfield Tire, Ideal Billiards, Main Cigar, and Westinghouse — are still undefeated in that circuit.

Westinghouse meets Main Cigar in the opening game at 7 p. m. with contests between Reese Optical and Ideal Electric, and Ideal Billiards and Mansfield Tire following.

★

Two games will be played in the "A" league at the Friendly House. Mansfield Tire, unbeaten loop leaders, will complete the first round by meeting Rex Billiards at 7 p. m. Satety Cabs and Sons of Italy, both with a 1-1 record collide in the afterpiece.

Appleseed Is Host To Senior Hi Sophs

The Johnny Appleseed junior high varsity cagers will be host to Senior high's sophomore reserves at 8 p. m. tonight in the Appleseed gym Brinkerhoff grade school and the Appleseed seventh graders are to meet in the 7 p. m. preliminary.

Vere Smith and Chuck Swain will officiate. Appleseed has broken even in two contests so far.

John Simpson was on the road this afternoon, being scheduled to play two games with the Shelby reserves, starting at 4 p. m.

Durocher Hearing Scheduled Tomorrow

CHICAGO — (INS) — Major league baseball opened its annual three-day winter meetings in Chicago today.

The closed-door Happy Chandler-Leo Durocher hearing, scheduled for tomorrow, rated ace-high in importance, not to mention mystery.

During the hearing Commissioner Chandler will attempt to discern whether Manager Durocher, or any officer of the New York Giants, "tampered" with Coach Freddy Fitzsimmons in acquiring him from the Boston Braves.

Chandler has indicated that his decision in the matter will not be made public immediately following the hearing. If, as he did in handing Durocher a one-year suspension 20 months ago, Chandler enjoins all parties concerned from talking about the matter, then the public may have nothing to go on outside of speculation.

"Tampering" incidentally, is what Chandler calls "a very serious offense." It conceivably would result in a penalty of life banishment.

Except for proposed legislation and rules changes that they'll discuss in separate American and National league meeting today and tomorrow and in a joint session Wednesday, the assembled baseball men didn't have too much to talk about as the meeting opened.

Though many of them had been in Chicago since Friday night, not one trade had yet been put through.

Hottest at the moment was a marathon conference between officials of the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Browns. Yankee Catcher Sherman Lollar was one of the chattels involved in the reported trade talk, while Browns' Pitcher Fred Sanford was another.

The bonus rule may result in the biggest piece of definite action taken by big leaguers as they amend the major-minor constitution. Although some of them are openly at variance with some of the bonus rule provisions as they now stand, the minors took no action whatsoever on the question at their meeting in Minneapolis last week.

That means that if the majors want to amend the constitution they will have to send whatever legislation they approve back to the minors, who have now scattered to the four winds.

As for television, which the minors voted against with a chorus of "nays" in Minneapolis, the majors won't give an inch. They have sunk great sums of money into the video field and they are bound to turn down the amendment, proposed by the minors, restricting telecasts.

800 Applaud Shelby Pupils In Annual Holiday Festival

SHELBY — Approximately 800 persons voiced their approval at the annual Christmas Festival presented by the Senior Choir of the Shelby High school at the high school auditorium yesterday afternoon.

The senior choir drew applause for its presentation of nine numbers. Soloists were Nancy Gump and Margaret Garvin. A sextet was accompanied by Robert Cottrell.

The Girls Glee club, accompanied by Miss Emily Heck at the piano, sang seven Christmas numbers.

Also well received was "An Old Fashioned Christmas" presented by the seventh and eighth grade chorus with Gary Troxell, Manning Haynes, John Crall, Mary Jo Hawk, Mary Chase Clark and Carol Sue Cain as soloists.

Accompanists were Mary Jo Hawk and Marilyn Lewis, with continuity by Marcial McCollough, Elizabeth Caudill, Nancy Dudenhaver, Shirley Seitz, Mary Lou Willet and Pete Souslin, with a polka directed by Margaret Garvin and Betty Reau.

The fifth and sixth grades presented "The Gift of Christmas", by Carrington, under the direction of Robert Cottrell, supervisor of music in the elementary grades.

The cast of characters included Nellie Pack as Mary, Elizabeth Waines as Faith, Barbara Dick as Hope and Marjorie Mathews as Love.

The tableaux characters, the Three Wise Men, were Jack McKewn, Bill Clark and Tom Green; the Sheperds, Warren Sneider, Gerald Place, Eddie Davis, Mike Devine, Kenneth Seib and David Eckert; Mary by Marlene Ziemke.

However, the fifth and sixth grade select voice chorus, attired in scarlet and white robes, drew the greatest applause with "Go Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen", "The First Noel", "Silent Night", with descant by Mary Chase Clark; "Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones", "Happy Flocks in Safety Wander", with flute accompaniment by Sally Harbaugh and Emily Heck, and "O Come All Ye Faithful".

The high school groups were under the direction of Paul Barden.

Millersburg To Hold Yule Party On Dec. 19

MILLERSBURG — A Christmas party for the needy and less fortunate children of Holmes county will be again staged this year by Holmes Post No. 192, American Legion with Rev. Fr. Clement R. Faistl, chaplain of the post in charge of arrangements.

The party will be held at the Legion home on West Jackson street next Sunday afternoon. Approximately 40 children will be invited to it. Holmes County Welfare department will furnish the post with the names of boys and girls. There will be a program and refreshments will be served.

Loudonville Unit Gets Oxygen Tent

LOUDONVILLE — An oxygen tent has been added to the life saving equipment that is available through the local fire department.

A tent purchased recently by the Ashland American Legion auxiliary was presented to the Loudonville unit by the chairman of the committee, Mrs. J. F. Greer, and she turned the device over to Fire Chief Stockman.

High Steel Production Continuing

Demand Still Exceeds Output

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Overall demands for steel continue "far in excess of supply despite significant operations cutbacks in some consumer lines," the magazine Steel said today.

"Pressure for flat-rolled products, for instance, is unrelieved to any noticeable extent despite the letdown in the home appliance industry, a large outlet for this class of product."

A slackoff in the demand for carbon steel bars would be a tipoff on any general slowing down in requirements due to slackening in metal-working, steel said.

"At present, overall demand for bars is well in excess of supply."

Several additional industries may be granted preference tonnage to supplement the more than 500,000 tons of steel already moving monthly on voluntary allocations, Steel said.

"The office of defense transportation is pressing a demand for more steel to produce 12,000 railroad cars a month as against the present 10,000-unit program."

Steelmaking operations were scheduled at about 1,802,500 net tons for the week. This holds close to the previous week's all-time record of 1,804,300 tons, Steel said. A new peacetime ingot record of 88,500,000 tons is expected.

"Adjustments in individual producers' prices continue, but there is as yet no sign any general advance is in prospect," Steel said.

"Last week the leading producer announced an increase of $13 to $19 per ton in contract tin plate prices effective January 1. Other makers are expected to follow."

Study Group Entertained

The Hollis Quinlan home, 207 Penn avenue, was the scene of the meeting of the Review of Reviews Club Friday evening. Mrs. William Carrier presided for the business session after which roll call was answered by giving a Christmas story, poem or song.

Twelve were in attendance, including two guests, Mrs. Kay Hettel of Marion and Mrs. Clarence Ullrich of Oak Park, Ill., a former member.

When refreshments were served the table was attractive with lighted tapers and other appointments in the holiday theme.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 14 at the home of Mrs. Frank McDowell, Bartley avenue.

Program Given On Santa Claus

Twenty-six members and three guests answered roll call of the Franklin Art club with an answer to "What Do You Want for Christmas?" Mrs. Frend Clingan, Route 545, was hostess to the group.

Mrs. Ralph Oswalt led the subject of "Consecration."

The program was given on the origin of Santa Claus. The subject was given by Mrs. Jay Baker. "Should Children Be Taught There Is a Santa Claus?" was the topic of Mrs. Gladys Fluharty's talk.

A gift exchange and auction of Christmas articles was held at the close of the meeting.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated in the Christmas theme.

Mrs. John Snyder, Shenandoah will be the next hostess on January 12. Mrs. Edward Butenschon will be the associate hostess.

RITES TODAY

Funeral of Mrs. Alta G. Rinehart, 68, will be held Monday at 1:30 p. m. at the Wappner funeral home. Mrs. Rinehart is survived by her husband, Hylas, one son, Herman, and one grandson, James.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

WILL YA DO IT? YA'LL BE DOIN' WOT'CHA COME HERE FER?
JOE'S GOTTA TELL ME T'DO IT. I COME BECUZ I THOT HE NEEDED HELP... BUT I CAN'T FIGHT IN A RING. I MADE A PROMUSS T'JOE AN' MR. WALSH.
IF KNOBBY TOLE YA IT WOULDN'T BE BREAKIN' A PROMUSS... WOULD JA DO IT? KNOBBY OWNS HALF TH' PROMUSS.
THAT'S KINDA COMPLICATERED... I'LL HAFTA THINK ABOUT IT.
HEY, KNOBS... C'MERE... LET'S MAKE WIT'A COMPRUNCE. IT'S CI-JUNT!
CAN'TCHA SEE I'M BUSY?

FELIX

TERRY & PIRATES

MR. LEE, BY PREVENTING THIS SCOUNDREL FROM ESCAPING, YOU HAVE PLACED ME DEEPER IN YOUR DEBT.
MAYOR CHUM, THIS ONE WAS ON ME.
...AND THESE DOCUMENTS WILL MAKE INTERESTING READING AT HIS TRIAL. THEY FORM A COMPLETE RECORD OF THE FIFTH COLUMN'S ACTIVITIES...
THERE IS EVEN A MESSAGE INFORMING THE REBEL COMMANDER THAT THE CITY'S FLANK IS UNGUARDED—EVIDENTLY PREPARED IN ANTICIPATION OF MY BOWING TO HIS THREATS.

GASOLINE ALLEY

SKEEX, WHAT'S THIS I HEAR ABOUT YOU BEING THE CULPRIT?
IT IS VERY EMBARRASSING, WILMER. SARGE AND HACK TOOK NINA'S WASHER TO OUR BASEMENT.
THERE, THEY FOUND ALL THE MISSING TOOLS ON MY WORKBENCH. I COULDN'T BELIEVE IT!
AN' THE BLUFF YOU PUT UP ABOUT NOT KNOWING THE THIEF!
WE CALLED RUFUS IN AND HE READILY ADMITTED THAT HE HAD BORROWED THE TOOLS TO DO ODD JOBS FOR NINA.
YOU'RE SURE HE ISN'T JUST TAKIN' THE RAP FOR YOU?

RIP KIRBY

S.S. COLUMBIA, SECOND DAY AT SEA:
GOOD MORNING, MR. KIRBY! MAY I JOIN YOU?
OF COURSE, MRS. VAN DOON!
10 A.M.
11 A.M.
12 M.
YOU ARE CERTAINLY MONOPOLIZING THE LADY, SIR!
ON THE CONTRARY... SHE MONOPOLIZED ME! DES, THIS AFTERNOON I MUST GIVE HER THE SLIP. AND I'LL TELL YOU WHY...

PENNY

IN THE DOG HOUSE, PRINCESS?
DEFINITELY. AUNT ELLEN. MOTHER IS SIMPLY WILD!
SHE F:IONED ME TO BRING SOME PLATES TO THE CHURCH SOCIAL, WRAPPED IN NEWSPAPER SO THEY WOULDN'T BREAK.
THE ASH MAN HAD TAKEN OUR PAPERS SO I BORROWED SOME FROM MR. TOUT, NEXT DOOR.
WEEPERS, HOW WAS I SUPPOSED TO NOTICE THAT THE PAPERS WERE THE DAILY RACE TRACK FORM.

TILLIE

I OVERHEARD KENT SAY I WAS A MARTIAN, SO I PRETENDED TO BE ONE
WELL, THANK YOU BOTH FOR LEADING ME TO A SCOOP
AND AN EYEWITNESS BANDIT STORY AT THAT!
A RUMOR ABOUT A MARTIAN PLAYING IN A LOCAL ORCHESTRA?
WE'RE NOT DOPES ENOUGH TO WASTE TIME ON SILLY STORIES LIKE THAT!

EXCUSE ME!
NOW.. A LISTEN I VIL. HAFF!
HMMM.. BREATHING VERY FAIND!

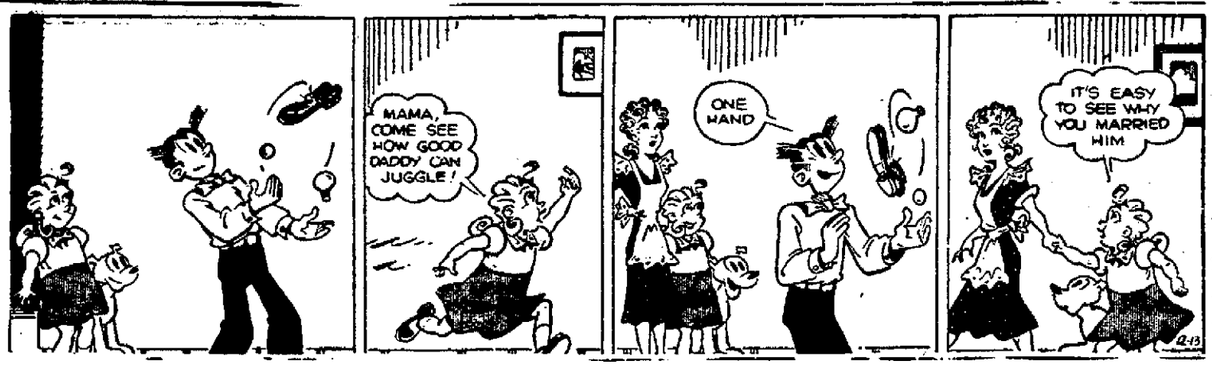
THE GUMPS

OH, DOCTOR TREE! HOW IS GEORGE?!
WILL SHE BE ABLE TO SEE AGAIN?! WHEN CAN SHE HAVE VISITORS?
WAS THE OPERATION A SUCCESS?!
FAIR-
TOO SOON TO KNOW-
I CAN ONLY HOPE AND PRAY--
LATER IN THE WEEK--
WELL! HE CERTAINLY DIDN'T WASTE MUCH TIME ON US!
HE ANSWERED OUR QUESTIONS LIKE A MAN RUSHING TO MAKE A TRAIN--AND MISSING IT!
POOR BOY-- HE HAS BEEN THROUGH AN ORDEAL--
DID YOU NOTICE HOW HIS HANDS WERE TREMBLING? HE DIDN'T SEEM MUCH LIKE A SURGEON--
HE WAS THE SURGEON IN THE OPERATING ROOM THIS MORNING. NOW, HE'S JUST A BOY IN LOVE WORRYING ABOUT HIS SWEETHEART.

SUPERMAN

TERRIFIED BY THEIR EXPERIENCE IN THE MAZE, THE TWO GUNMEN HAVE JUST REVEALED THAT THEY WERE HIRED TO KILL CLARK BY THE VERY SAME BANK OFFICIAL CLARK IS ACCUSED OF KIDNAPING.
SO CAMPER HIRED YOU TO KILL CLARK! WHY?
S-SUPERMAN!! THAT EXPLAINS EVERYTHING—THESE WINDING CORRIDORS—THE HANDWRITIN' ON THE WALL...
BUT IT DOESN'T EXPLAIN CAMPER! WHY DID HE HIRE YOU?
W-WE ONLY KNOW H-HE WAS AFRAID CLARK W-WOULD REMEMBER S-SOMETHING! HE DIDN'T SAY WHAT!
WHY CAMPER'S PROBABLY AFRAID OF CLARK'S REMEMBERING WHY HE KIDNAPED HIM! WHICH MEANS THAT CLARK MAY REALLY BE INNOCENT AFTER ALL. THAT'S WHAT I HAVE TO FIND OUT—FROM CAMPER!

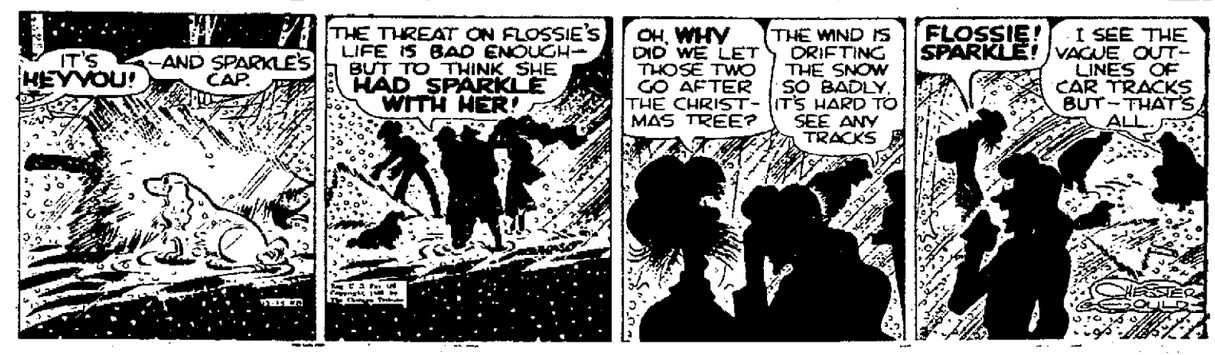
BLONDIE



ORPHAN ANNIE

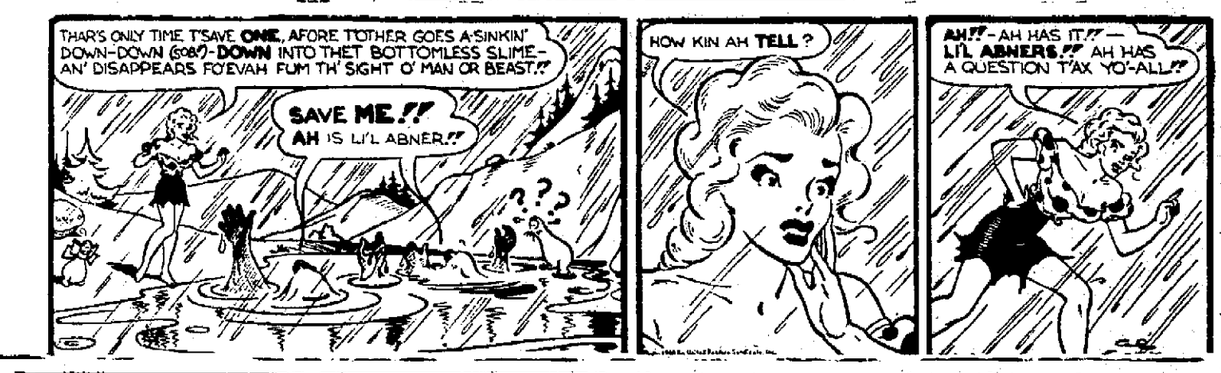
THANKS A LOT FOR TH' RIDE, JERRY— KURT KOLLY, TH' SHERIFF, SEEMS LIKE A RIGHT GUY, TH' WAY YOU SAID—
GOOD LUCK, ANNIE— I'LL BE SEEIN' YOU, NEXT TRIP THROUGH—
HOP IN, GIRLS—YOU TOO, SANDY— WE'LL RUN OVER TO MY PLACE WHERE WE CAN FIGGER THINGS OUT AND GET YOU ALL SETTLED PROPER—
WE'RE NOT FUSSY— I GUESS JERRY TOLD YOU HOW IT IS WITH US, EH?
YEP—IT'LL BE SORT OF A CHANGE FOR YOU CITY GIRLS, I RECKON—
CITY GIRL? SURE— BUT MAYBE I'VE BEEN AROUND MORE'N YOU'D THINK, SHERIFF—

DICK TRACY



IT'S HEY YOU! —AND SPARKLE'S CAP.
THE THREAT ON FLOSSIE'S LIFE IS BAD ENOUGH— BUT TO THINK SHE HAD SPARKLE WITH HER!
OH, WHY DID WE LET THOSE TWO GO AFTER THE CHRISTMAS TREE?
THE WIND IS DRIFTING THE SNOW SO BADLY, IT'S HARD TO SEE ANY TRACKS
FLOSSIE! SPARKLE!
I SEE THE VAGUE OUTLINES OF CAR TRACKS BUT—THAT'S ALL.

LIL ABNER

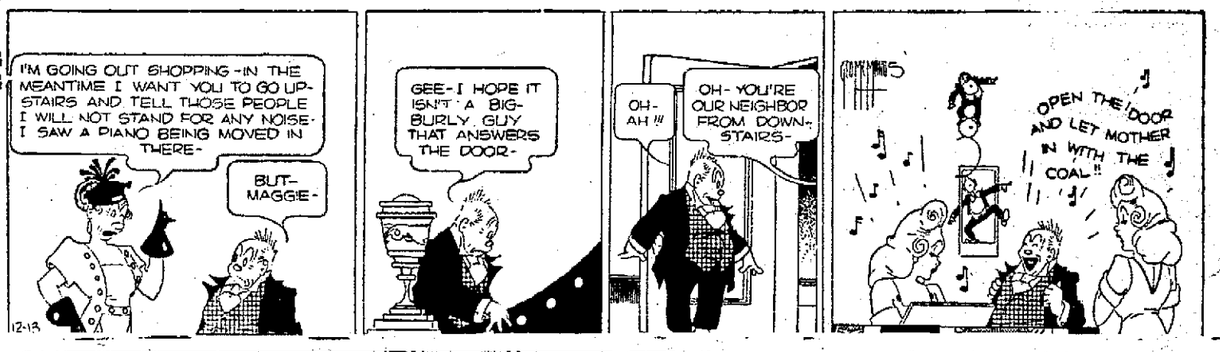


THAR'S ONLY TIME T'SAVE ONE, AFORE TOTHER GOES A-SINKIN' DOWN-DOWN (GOB!)-DOWN INTO THET BOTTOMLESS SLIME— AN' DISAPPEARS FO'EVAH FUM TH' SIGHT O' MAN OR BEAST!!
SAVE ME!! AH IS LI'L ABNER!!
HOW KIN AH TELL?
AH!!—AH HAS IT!!— LI'L ABNER!! AH HAS A QUESTION T'AX YO'-ALL!!

BRICK BRADFORD

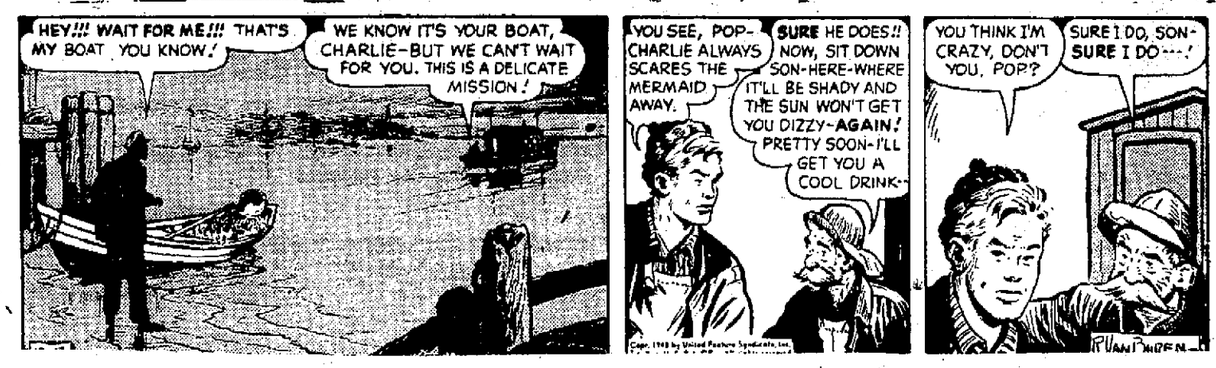
THIS INCENDIARY GADGET JUST ABOUT PUTS THE CLINCHER ON OUR DEAL WITH THE PROPHET!
HOW COME?
NO PRIMITIVE PEOPLE SUCH AS THESE AMAUTA TRIBES COULD BE LETTING LOOSE WITH A LETHAL STYMIE LIKE THIS!
I GETCHA!
NO WONDER THE PROPHET COULDN'T COPE WITH THE EVIL HE FORESAW...
HOW COME, AGAIN?
HIS FOLKLORE OUTLOOK BOGGED DOWN WHEN CONFRONTED WITH A MODERN MENACE — WHICH I BELIEVE HAS MOVED IN!
I GETCHA!

JIGGS



I'M GOING OUT SHOPPING - IN THE MEANTIME I WANT YOU TO GO UPSTAIRS AND TELL THOSE PEOPLE I WILL NOT STAND FOR ANY NOISE. I SAW A PIANO BEING MOVED IN THERE-
BUT- MAGGIE-
GEE- I HOPE IT ISN'T A BIG-BURLY GUY THAT ANSWERS THE DOOR-
OH- AH!!
OH- YOU'RE OUR NEIGHBOR FROM DOWNSTAIRS-
OPEN THE DOOR AND LET MOTHER IN WITH THE COAL!!

ABBIE AND SLATS



HEY!!! WAIT FOR ME!!! THAT'S MY BOAT YOU KNOW!
WE KNOW IT'S YOUR BOAT, CHARLIE—BUT WE CAN'T WAIT FOR YOU. THIS IS A DELICATE MISSION!
YOU SEE, POP- CHARLIE ALWAYS SCARES THE MERMAID AWAY.
SURE HE DOES!! NOW, SIT DOWN SON-HERE-WHERE IT'LL BE SHADY AND THE SUN WON'T GET YOU DIZZY-AGAIN! PRETTY SOON-I'LL GET YOU A COOL DRINK-
YOU THINK I'M CRAZY, DON'T YOU, POP?
SURE I DO, SON- SURE I DO---!

POPEYE

HE'S HAVING TROUBLE READING THE MENU, POPEYE — THAT'S IN HIS FAVOR!!
YES!!
YOU STILL EXPECT TO TAKE THE SIXTH MAN WHO ENTERS THIS CAFE AND MAKE HIM A RASSLIN' CHAMP — NO MATTER WHO HE IS??
YOU HEARD ME SAY I WOULD!!
LOOK!!
HELLO, WIMPY!! BEG PARDON!! YOU MEAN I'M WELCOME??

Lawyer Readies Loyalty Briefs

CLEVELAND. — (INS) — Charles A. Chandler, lawyer for a number of the 29 Cleveland post office employees facing disloyalty charges against the government, is preparing briefs to the loyalty board in Washington against the legality of the post office investigations

Chandler who appeared before a three-member panel of the Washington board Thursday in Cleveland, said he would contend in his briefs that the proceedings were unconstitutional.

Law Enforcement Officials Name Date For Convention

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Columbus should prove an unhealthy place for criminals early next month.

The reason will be the presence of 250 law enforcement officers expected to attend the two-day session of the Buckeye State Sheriffs association on January 5 and 6

William McElroy, who is executive secretary of the organization, said that in addition to sheriffs and their deputies from the state's 88 counties, agents for the FBI and state bureau of criminal indentification and investigation also would participate in the sessions.

An entire day of the conference will be devoted to a discussion of all phases of law enforcement and crime detection, with various pieces of modern equipment now used in crime apprehension on display.

Arthur L Glattke, superintendent of the Mansfield reformatory, will address a session on cooperative plans worked out between officials at the men's reformatory and police officers throughout the state.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff of Pickaway county is president of the association. Vice presidents are Sheriff Fred Bartels of Napoleon and sheriff's Deputy Burl Justice of Portsmouth.

Comrade Drops Roses on Grave

BUCYRUS—A final tribute was paid Friday to a departed member by the Bucyrus Civil Air Patrol.

Three red roses were dropped on the grave of Lowell Gray jr., 19 in Brokensword cemetery, north of here, from the plane of a fellow member, Richard Loy, Chatfield. The roses were symbolic of the three-bladed red propeller on the CAP insignia.

Gray, a well known Crawford county farmer was instantly killed near here Tuesday when his car collided with a stone-loaded truck

Average Pay Up

WARREN —(AP)— A survey showed that Trumbull county's 95 industrial plants will have paid out $85,000,000 in wages by the end of this year. Average pay this year was $1.25 an hour, compared with $1.10 an hour last year.

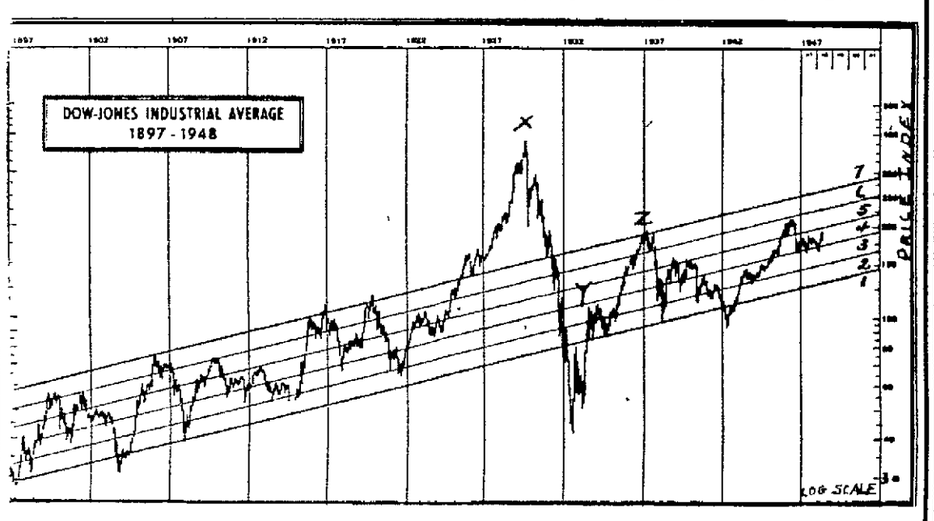
What We KNOW About the Market



Look at the chart above It is a picture of the ups and downs of the stock market for the past fifty years Note the channel numbers, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 at the right. Can you see what has happened every time stocks have been bought in channels 1, 2, and 3, and sold in channels 5, 6, or 7? Profits—tremendous profits, in some cases—have always resulted.

No one knows whether the next move from any particular point will be up or down. But we do know that eventually prices will move both up and down. And, basically, that is all one needs to know to make profits over a reasonable length of time, IF FORMULA PLAN INVESTING IS USED The longest period ever required to produce a profit was from x to y. Had one started his FORMULA PLAN in 1929 he would have had losses during 1930, 1931, 1932 and 1933 At z, in 1937 profits would have been 54%. But today with the price index less than half that of 1929, the profit would be 163%.

FORMULA PLAN INVESTING safeguards principal, and increases income. Many top ranking Universities, Bank Trust Departments, Insurance Companies, Investing Companies and individual investors use Formula Plans to eliminate the hazards of market forecasting. The more matured the investor, the more receptive to FORMULA PLAN INVESTING.

We will send our booklet, "FORMULA PLAN INVESTING," free upon request.

State Electoral College Casting Presidential Votes Today

25 Ohioans Make Dems' Win Final

Vote Scheduled For Afternoon

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Three women and 22 men met here today to make President Truman's 1948 victory in Ohio official.

The 25 comprised the Ohio electoral college. Technically, it was they—and not the Democratic ticket of Mr. Truman and Sen. Alben W. Barkley—who rolled up a plurality of 7107 popular votes in Ohio last Nov. 2.

Under the federal constitution, presidential and vice-presidential votes are cast for electors. The electors, in turn, can vote for anyone they want to. However, since the Ohio 25 are all tried and true Democrats, no hitch was expected in delivering the votes to Mr. Truman and Senator Barkley.

The ballot-casting ceremonies are scheduled for around 2.30 p. m. EST.

In most recent elections, many Ohioans have been unaware that they are not voting for their party's nominees—but only for electors pledged to those nominees. In 1928, the legislature voted to omit the names of major-party electors and list only the Republican and Democratic presidential and vice-presidential candidates on the ballot.

A slate of electors appeared on the 1948 Ohio ballot, however. It was pledged to the Progressive party candidates—Henry A. Wallace and Sen. Glen Taylor (D-Idaho.)

Ohio is allowed 25 electoral votes uner a federal constitution provision which says there shall be an elector for each congressman and senator from each state. Despite Mr. Truman's narrow margin of victory over the Republican nominee, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, all of Ohio's electoral votes go to the President under the electoral college system.

The Ohio electors receive $10, and 10 cents a mile expenses from their home to Columbus. They are:

Mayor Thomas A. Burke of Cleveland, Albert A. Horstman of Dayton, Democratic national committeeman from Ohio; John P. Kelly, Toledo; Alfred M. Cohn and Vincent Beckman, both of Cincinnati; former Congressman Gregg Holbrook, Hamilton.

STEEL-

the lowest priced metal

At four cents a pound—the average price today at the mills—steel remains the lowest priced of all metals.

To help combat inflation steel companies have consistently followed a policy of price moderation.

Steel prices did not rise during the war. The moderate increases since the war have by no means kept pace with rising costs.

Steelmaking costs have risen sharply. The costs of scrap, coal, wages and freight, all of which directly influence the cost of making steel, have gone up rapidly.

Maintenance and repair costs of steel companies are at an all-time high. The costs of replacing and improving equipment have in many cases doubled and tripled.

Steel remains low priced at four cents a pound.

Schools Busy With Christmas

Bucyrus Pupils Map Series of Activities

BUCYRUS—With Bucyrus high school students having only seven more days before the Christmas vacation, special holiday events have been arranged by various high school groups.

A party will be held Thursday night at the high school by the Band Parents' association. The program will include games, a gift exchange and refreshments. Mrs. Alfred Rossman and Mrs. Victor Cassaro are in charge of arrangements for the affair, which is expected to draw at least 150 persons.

A Christmas formal will be held Tuesday night, Dec. 21, by members of Club Co-ed, of which Miss Doris Bergen is president. Chairmen for the event include decorations, Shirley Claxton; program, Jean Ann Powers; refreshments, Virginia Marquis; chaperones, Janet Auck, and orchestra, Judy Blicke.

A party will be held Thursday night at the home of Miss Martha Marggraf by the Girls' Booster club. Miss Shirley Leuthold will be co-hostess.

Tonight the Blue Triangle club's annual Christmas party will be held at the high school. Club officers include: President, Jacqueline Reber; secretary, Doris Downing; faculty advisers, Mrs. M. L. Tupps, Miss Juanita Renkert and Dr. Clara Schieber. Josephine Craner is program committee chairman for the party and Charlotte Jones is in charge of decorations.

A gift exchange will be held Thursday night at the school by the Future Homemakers' association.

Democrats Celebrate

BUCYRUS—A victory dinner and dance will be held tonight at Greenlawn, east of here, by Crawford County Democrats.

The event is sponsored by the Crawford County Young Democrats club and the general public will be welcomed along with county Democratic central and executive committees and victorious candidates.

Principal speaker will be Congressman-elect John McSweeney of Millersburg.

Crawford County Democrats made a clean sweep of county offices at the Nov. 2 election.

Minstrel Slated For West Point

WEST POINT—The Community Hall at this settlement near Galion will be the scene of a minstrel show at 8 p. m. on Monday, Dec. 20. George Rule, director of the "Dixieland Dandy's Band", will serve as interlocter and his wife as pianist. The cast will be blackface.

As an added attraction to the benefit affair for the hall Santa Claus will arrive and present treats to all attending. The cast has gained an enviable reputation for its character performances in Morrow and adjoining counties last summer.

Form New Sales Firm In Galion

GALION — A new concern in Galion which will engage in the sale and installation of air purifying units is the B. and C. Sales company.

It has been formed by Betty and Charles Alcorn with headquarters at their home, 170 South state road. The units are designed as a new attack in the prevention of colds, influenza, and other airborne diseases.

Galion Gets Yule Tree 30 Feet Tall

School Children To Present Program

GALION — There will be a Chirstmas tree on the public square during the holiday season, Mayor H. H. Hartmann said today City officials will cooperate with Galion merchants in helping to erect the tree.

Due to stress of business in city hall, the city administration has been handicapped this year in getting the work done, the mayor indicated. Offer of a 30-foot tree by Mrs. G. D. Finney is expected to be accepted by the city.

Santa Claus arrived in Galion on the public square (Saturday) with a treat for Galion's children.

ARRIVES IN TRUCK

A city fire truck brought him through the city streets. Before arriving on the public square, he stopped at the Crawford County Children's Home, west of Galion. Galion merchants were influential in bringing Saint Nick and his treat to the children.

Another feature of the Christmas season in Galion will be the Christmas concert Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in Senior High school auditorium. It will be presented by the Junior and Senior High school choruses.

Miss Lenore Bowdle directs the Junior High school singers, while F. A. W. Liddell is director of the Senior High school chorus.

It appears that crookedness has been disclosed in operation of the numbers racket in Cleveland—My, my, imagine that! Dishonest gamblers!

Reports indicate that this year's quota of traffic accidents has been filled—so reckless motorists are asked to lay off until after the first of the year.

People Should Be Told Business Facts

IS BUSINESS bungling its story? That is the question Dr. James E. McCarthy, dean of the commerce college of Notre Dame university asks. He then presents a picture of present day business and industry that differs with the one the average American has been getting in the last decade and a half.

In a recent address to the Cleveland Advertising club, he made no attempt to deny the sins and the shortcomings of the past—the highhandedness of the railroads, the abuses of privilege by the utilities, the reckless practices that brought on the debacle of 1929.

This was all true he said, but then pointed out that there has been a "significant change between our time and the day when 'all the traffic will bear' and 'the public be damned' represented an economic way of life operating for the enrichment of the few at the expense of the many." He added that while there are exceptions, the records of the vast majority show that American business now conducts its affairs on a "moral, ethically sound, contributing and gainful level."

But does the public realize and appreciate this? Dr. McCarthy evidently doesn't think so, for the reason that the businessmen and industrialists have somehow failed to tell their side of the economic and business picture.

The Notre Dame dean points out that the business that doesn't make a profit is an unhealthy business, one whose employes will eventually be jobless and whose stockholders will be left with an empty bag.

Does the average employe or the average consumer know this, or is his thinking governed by the claims of those who charge that industry is engaged in a conspiracy to push prices to "astronomical levels" in a "greedy quest for profits"?

Much has been heard in recent years of charges that the steel industry has refused to expand to meet the growing needs of the country.

But what has industry done to counteract this by getting across the fact that since the end of the war the steel industry has launched a program of improvements and expansion amounting to $1,700,000,000, and that blast furnace capacity in 1948 was about 19 per cent greater than in 1938?

Dr. McCarthy said that in 1947 American industry on a business of 200 billions reported a net profit of 17 billions, of which about eight billions, or four per cent was distributed in profits, while the remainder was plowed back into business. That can hardly be classified as greed, but does the great mass of people, struggling with mounting prices, know this?

It's true that there are carefully prepared corporation reports, and handsomely printed pamphlets and books sent out to a select mailing list. But, when it comes to business getting across the facts of business life to the American public, the answer to Dr. McCarthy's question seems obvious.

When School Discipline Breaks Down

CONSIDERABLE attention is naturally being attracted to the situation that has developed in the public schools at Twinsburg, a Summit county village, where the school principal has been bound over on an assault and battery charge, and where the entire 18-member teaching staff has tendered resignations—as evidence of support of the principal's disciplinary action.

This is the same village, some will remember, in which there was a three-days' "strike" by school children about a month ago. Now the father of a 16-year-old boy charges that the principal pushed his son in such a way as to constitute "assault and battery," which a justice of the peace upheld to the extent of binding over the accused principal for grand jury action.

Explaining their resignations, the school staff—including the principal, athletic coach and 16 others—said in a prepared statement: "We, the undersigned, finding it impossible longer to conduct a school program with any reasonable degree of efficiency, due to outside interference for the major part of this semester, hereon present our resignations . . ."

And that's that. The question that arises, of course, is the legal extent of authorization given school officials to maintain discipline in school rooms, and what punishment—if any—dare be administered by school authorities when some pupils act in a way that prevents orderly functioning of school sessions.

Without jumping to any conclusions in the Twinsburg controversy, it would appear that this case presents an example of juvenile misbehavior that might well be taken into account when considering the attitude of some parents toward any disciplinary action by school authorities but at the same time failing to make sure that their children behave properly in school and elsewhere.

Night clubs may have their glamor, but many men and women still remember with satisfaction the family parties of old days, sitting around the checker boards and enjoying parlor games.

As Harry Wade sees it: "This thing of second-hand cars being more costly than new jobs is probably unique in economics, unless you include marrying a divorcee."

Claude Callan sees a bright side to high prices: "You feel that you are accomplishing more by doing without things."

It sometimes seems that there are not only fewer horses in this country but less horse sense.

What Some Other People Are Saying

SEN. FERGUSON (R-Mich): "If there is no effective prosecution of the spy cases, and the reason given is that the law is not adequate, there will certainly be more law."

* * *

WINSTON CHURCHILL: "I must say that no part of the (British) government policy has been more marked by misjudgment and mismanagement than Palestine."

* * *

DR. HERBERT V. EVATT, Australian foreign minister: "History will regard (the declaration of human rights) as one of the outstanding achievements of the United Nations since its establishment. This is the first occasion on which the organized community of nations has made a declaration on human rights and fundamental freedoms."

Will It Be Golden Eggs of Roast Goose?

Raymond Moley's Analysis

New Orleans Is Meeting Trade Problem

WHEN Jefferson purchased Louisiana in 1803, he said that "New Orleans will be forever as it is now, the mightiest mart of the merchandise brought from more than a thousand rivers. . . . With Boston, Baltimore, New York and Philadelphia on the left, Mexico on the right, Havana in front and the immense valley of the Mississippi in the rear, no such position for the accumulation of wealth and power ever existed."

This month a very practical means of realizing this prophesy was inaugurated. The International Trade Mart was dedicated. Its purpose is to exhibit the merchandise of firms throughout the world to prospective customers from the countries south of New Orleans.

The first step toward the Trade Mart was the creation of the International House, three years ago. This institution is at once a down-town business man's club, a spot for the entertainment of visitors from all the Americas, a convenient base for the operations of buyers and sellers, a center of publicity about trade opportunities and a base for commercial research.

The International House and the Trade Mart provide a remarkable chance for businesses, especially small businesses, to operate successfully without elaborate and expensive selling organizations of their own.

Government sponsorship of foreign trade through treaties, financial agreements, international monetary funds and windy exhortations from the state department are all well and good. But business concerns with something to sell or the wish to buy abroad must have the machinery to operate.

Myths of buried treasures or homilies about trade across the seas do not make trade. Trade begins when buyers see good goods and sellers smell real money.

The Mart has space to rent for exhibits and sales rooms for manufactured products of all kinds. The foreign buyer can find an assortment of products without expensive and lengthy tours of the United States. The domestic buyer can find what he wants from abroad.

* * *

Latin-American Outlet.

THE FLAGS of all nations fly from the Mart, and its space is already filled with products, from agricultural equipment to wrought-iron furniture, pharmaceuticals, baby bottles, welding apparatus, kitchenware and cosmetics. Foreign governments have opened offices in the building to promote trade and spread good will.

In war years New Orleans was jammed with shipping, crowded with workers and bursting with prosperity. But business and civic leaders dreaded a reaction and planned for peace. For a short time the state had won a breathing spell from the oppressive Long political exploitation of many years.

No American city worked harder to carry on in peacetime. The International House and Trade Mart are two of the concrete results of this effort.

The major concern of New Orleans is with Latin America and, to a degree, West Africa. After the first World War, Latin American trade boomed. Then it died down and reached bottom in 1932. It has now come back to its former peak. With energy, vision and the increasing industrialization of Latin America, trade can increase indefinitely.

Louisiana business, however, always labors under the handicap of political threats. A year ago the come-back of the Long crowd in the state election was a depressant. But this year the Long outfit failed to put over a choice assortment of legislation, and New Orleans is hopeful that the worst is past. A reform regime in New Orleans helps immeasurably.

The natural advantages of this port, so clearly seen by Jefferson, seem to be coming to a practical realization.

Washington Calling

'Unified' In Name Only

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THE HARSH facts are catching up with the convenient myth that the armed services have been unified. Propaganda cannot cover up the truth, which is that rivalry between the services is almost more acute than it was before passage of the national military establishment bill.

The official damper put on by the White House may keep the current squabble over the budget behind closed doors. But it has not put an end to the dispute.

The civilian and military heads of these services continued to press their separate claims. Within the bureau of the budget, which must send final figures to Congress, they are complaining that no one in the Pentagon building seems to be even close to resolving the quarrel. The only answer is to hint that the total must go above the $15,000,000,000 ceiling, so that each service will get everything it asks for.

All this is pointed up by the report of the committee on the national security organization of the Hoover Commission to Reorganize the Government. Chairman of that committee is Ferdinand Eberstadt who was frequently mentioned as secretary of national defense in the event Gov. Dewey had been elected president.

Eberstadt and the majority of the committee recognize an "improvement" under the unification bill, but they also recognize the serious obstacles in the way of any real unification with the present top-heavy setup.

Army, Navy and Air each has a separate secretary, an under secretary and two assistant secretaries, while the secretary of national defense, supposedly top dog, has no assistants and no adequate staff.

* * *

Various Dissenters.

THE EBERSTADT committee also recognizes the weakness in the joint chiefs of staff, where each service chief has the veto power and there is no over-all military chief.

Timidly and tentatively, Eberstadt and the committee propose that the secretary of defense be given a principal military assistant and that a top military man also be named to represent the secretary on the joint chiefs of staff. As representative of the secretary, he would act as umpire in referring disputes to his boss but he would not have power to end those disputes.

Two dissenters on the Eberstadt committee are much more [illegible] and [illegible], and it happens that the two dissenters know far more about the military establishment through direct experience than any other committee member.

One is John J. McCloy, who served as assistant secretary of war to Henry L. Stimson throughout World War II.

McCloy proposes a chief of staff for the joint chiefs, who would have final authority to resolve major service differences. He points out that the same arguments now being used against such a No. 1 chief were used when the Army was reorganized and three separate chiefs of infantry, artillery and cavalry were merged into one.

But the really vigorous dissenter is Robert P. Patterson, who was under secretary to Stimson and secretary of war prior to unification. Bluntly, Patterson says that the present setup may have created more divisiveness than unity. It has certainly not brought about the economies that are possible, he adds.

It is hard to see how the present setup can continue. A recent magazine article by Forrestal suggesting that all- or nearly all— was sweetness and light has caused wry laughter in the Pentagon. The bickerings and divisiveness would seem to invite another Pearl Harbor. Congress returns in less than a month with signs that an accounting will be demanded.

Navy Issues Guidebook On What to Say

By DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note: The Washington Merry-Go-Round today begins its 17th year of whirling, and this is also Drew Pearson's birthday anniversary. Time magazine, in its current issue, recognizes this anniversary by featuring Drew Pearson on its cover and printing an illuminating article on how he works.)

* * *

WASHINGTON—The Navy has just put out for restricted use one of the most amazing reference books ever printed at public expense—a confidential handbook to guide Navy officers in making public speeches and, incidentally, poking gibes at the Army Air Force.

In fact, the book's underlying theme is nothing but the Navy's case against the Air Force.

Despite the fact that Congress passed the Unification Bill for the express purpose of cutting out Army and Navy bickering, the Navy's confidential handbook admonishes:

"Always remember that you represent the Navy and that, whatever the apparent purpose of your talk may be, your primary purpose is to inform the public to the benefit of the Navy."

The prospective Navy speaker is warned to do a little reconnaissance in advance. For example, he is supposed to ask himself: "Audience—Will members of other services be present? . . . Place—Is it known to be either pro- or anti-Navy? . . . Purpose—How can your appearance before this group best serve the Navy?

A high sounding policy is laid down by the Navy for preparing public speeches. This covers three points. "(1) Naval personnel (shall) refrain from any reference to Russia . . . by name as a potential enemy or threat to this country . . . (2) We should continue to have confidence in the United Nations as an instrument to assure world peace, and there should be no expression of doubt in this respect . . . (3) No member of the naval service (shall) utter any comment reflecting adversely upon, or belittling the role of, any other branch of the service, and, in general, discussion of matters which might be controversial between the services (shall) be avoided in public."

Yet the suggested speech material, taken from actual Navy speeches, violates in almost every sentence the Navy's own policy. On page after page, the guidebook makes a mockery of unification. It cries for broader naval aviation—although the Navy's role in the air has been fixed twice by the joint chiefs of staff. It snipes at the Air Force while professing brotherly love.

* * *

Navy Outbuilds Army.

DESPITE this the Navy is now buying more airplanes than the Air Force, and, by 1951, the Navy Air Force will be flying 14,000 planes, while the Air Force will be operating only 10,600.

Most constant line in the Navy speakers' guide is an undertone, belittling the Air Force. The suggested speech material for Navy officers is full of such comments as:

"In the battle of Surigao Strait and the actions occurring at the time of our landings on Leyte, the Japanese naval commanders depended upon Army-directed air for their infomation regarding our shipping and fleet dispositions. Since V-J Day, they have testified that the information they received was entirely misleading and consequently worse than none . . ."

Also: "I would like you to think of what it takes to build a bomber base. Twenty ships would be required for concrete alone to build a single strip from which B-36's (an Air Force plane) could operate . . ."

Note—Apparently the admirals take their cue from a confidential directive issued by Secretary of Defense Forrestal, in which he said: "It is to the mutual interest of all of us to minimize public evidences of friction among the services." In other words he seemed not so concerned about stopping all bickering, but in not letting it leak to the public.

Tongue-Tied Wayne Coy.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN understood perfectly the other day when 10-year-old Wayne Coy jr., became tongue-tied. Wayne jr., and his 17-year-old brother Stephen accompanied by his father, who is Chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, when he went to the White House. Wayne jr., had assured his father before they reached the White House that he would add the President's autograph to his collection.

"I'm just going to ask him for it," announced the 10-year-old. But when he stood before the President of the United States, he could hardly say, "How do you do, Mr. President," as he had so carefully planned.

Time is precious inside the White House, and as his father started to leave, Wayne jr., still hadn't been able to speak up about the coveted autograph. So Wayne Sr., became his ambassador.

"Mr. President," he said, "Wayne here said he was going to ask you for your autograph and I know he wants it. He's just too scared to open his mouth right now."

"I know how he feels," remarked the President, as he sat down to write out his autograph. "You know, Wayne, the first time I visited here to see the President, I wasn't able to say anything either. Of course, it was for a different reason. I got here and didn't get a chance to talk, because the President talked all the time himself."

Note—Truman's first White House visit was as senator from Missouri in 1935, and the man he didn't get a chance to talk to was Franklin Roosevelt.

Viewing the National Scene

Peace Would Cost Less

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — These are President Truman's words: "The expenditures of the federal government are still inescapably dominated by the war and its aftermath. In the fiscal year 1949, 79 per cent of our expenditures directly reflect the costs of war, the effects of war, and our efforts to prevent a future war: National defense — international affairs—veterans' benefits—interest on the public debt—tax refunds.

"This should be a sobering thought to all of us as we strive for the creation of lasting peace among the nations of the world.

"Only 21 per cent of our expenditures finance the government's programs in the broad areas of: Social welfare—housing — education —research—agriculture —natural resources—transportation — finance—commerce—industry—labor—general administration.

The President said that a year ago in his budget message to Congress.

It will be about the same in his budget message which he presents early in January, except that the figure for national defense will be around 15 billions instead of the 11 billions he asked a year ago. Strenuous attempts will be made to increase even that. The military already are lobbying to raise it.

It was "a sobering thought" a year ago, as the President said. It is an even more "sobering thought" now. A year has passed. We are a year further away from the war, whether we are a year closer to peace or not.

Once again we are confronted with the terrible cost to the world of nations arming against one another—for others are spending the same way. And we spend more each year, so that we literally clank like robber barons of old as we walk about from futile conference to futile conference looking for peace.

* * *

Opportunity To Lead.

THE MORAL of the stupidity of the whole human race is before us in President Truman's simple statistics.

The moral should be plain to us in this country just now.

We have just come through an election in which the winner, President Truman, pledged all sorts of things to improve our daily lives, more facilities for education, for health, for decent housing, and so on.

For only a fraction of the 15 billions or more that we must vote for military defense, in the world as it is today, we could have all these things and many more. But, because we haven't yet found the way to peace we may not get even the few.

Instead, because we live literally in a military camp, there will be continued restrictions of all kinds and perhaps higher taxes. For we must be ready to rally for the battle, under arms, on guard.

This can go on from year to year unless we do something about it. And it's no way to live—or run a world.

That is, unless the people of the world, and of this country in particular, take the lead to do something about it. There is such a simple answer, which is to establish a world federal government of law.

There we can take the lead, for we have the know-how from our own experience in creating, 159 years ago now, a federal government out of what were, in effect, almost separate nations. It is not a long step for us to world government.

It will have to be done soon, because the United Nations, on which foundation a world government could be most easily built, is disintegrating rapidly all around us, and, once that is gone, we will have nothing existing on which to build.

Ryan, through the interview on television, said criminals were hired because parole boards sent them back and he could do nothing, since the constituted police authorities did nothing.

Farmer's Diary

Beginning of Winter

By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE MORNING began clear and fine, but with a wintry portent. A chill northwest wind blew down, rough and cold, from the valley rim. Clouds banked low in the west, and in another hour small heavy swirls stood motionless where the sky had been blue and clear.

Snowflakes rode on the wind, shivered through the scrub oaks of last year's green border, and were swallowed up in the purple oaken shadows.

A neighbor's farm wagon rattled by, with the team on the trot. The man wore his ear-tabbed cap and stood erect with his eyes straight ahead. In the next field, farmers with lowbuilt wagons pulled by tractors were hauling the last shocks of cornfodder out of the bottoms.

Their red weather-beaten faces, moistened by snowflakes, spoke of the urgency of their labor. The loaded wagons went roughly over frozen ground, lurching and straining their outmoded running gears to keep up with the speed of the modern tractor that pulled them. Once on the road, a single tractor pulled two high wide loads.

The large red doors of the big bank barn slid back to release the scent of well-dried, seasoned hay, ensilage and animals. The team pulled the load briskly into the shelter of the mows and the horses dropped their heads to browse on a mouthful or two of dried clover. The snow dust on mane and forelock began to melt.

Meanwhile, across the valley, another group of men went up to the woods with saws and axes. With coal $10.50 a ton, the winter woodlot saves mightily on heating expenses.

Much wind-fallen timber lies in the woods hereabouts, and other trees are past their prime. These farmers kindled a roaring fire by an old stump. Fanned by the brisk wind, the gusts beat rhythmic time like the roll of drums.

Soon the crosscuts were hard at work cutting suitable lengths for hauling. White sawdust blew away from the new cut in a fragrant stream. One man used steel wedges to split the big logs to handling size. Later on, these will be snow-sledded down to the farmstead, buzzed into stove lengths in the farmyard, and stored in the woodshed near the kitchen door.

There is peculiar satisfaction in "warming oneself twice" as the farmer does who feeds the firebox of the kitchen range with some twisted stubborn stick that his neighbors jokingly said he could never split.

Pair Held In Burglary

Filling Station In City Entered

A 19-year-old youth from Nova and a 20-year-old resident of Fairfax avenue were held by police today in connection with the Sunday morning burglary of the Canfield service station, Central avenue and Orange street.

Police apprehended the youths in a car on Orange street an hour after the burglary was reported at 3:50 a. m. by John Arron, manager of the station.

A zipper bag, containing more than $10 in nickels, was found in the car with the youths, police said. Officers said the coins may have been taken from pinball machines in the service station.

Arron told police the station had been entered by breaking out a window on the east side of the building. He said between $8 and $9 was taken from the pinball machine.

Shortly after noon Sunday, Carlton Sloane, manager of the Coca-Cola Bottling company, 205 North Diamond street, reported to police that a window had been broken out of the west side of the office building. Police investigation showed that two panes had been broken out and the frame battered. Police said the would-be burglar obviously cut himself as there was blood on the glass. Entrance was not gained, police said.

Reports Auto, Cash Thefts

Burglary of a house and theft of a car near Bellville Saturday were under investigation by sheriff's deputies today.

Howard Kennedy, Logan road, reported at 3 a. m. Sunday that his car, parked at the home of his father, Carl Kennedy, on the middle Bellville road, was stolen Saturday from the premises.

At the same time, the Kennedy home was entered and a billfold, containing $60, was taken from a pair of trousers. Kennedy said neither the car nor the house was locked.

George Blymyer Dies In South

George Blymyer, 71, descendant of one of Mansfield's pioneer families and actively associated for many years in the city's business and social affairs, died Sunday at Rosehill plantation, Middleton, Ga., where he and Mrs. Blymyer had been living for the past two years.

Besides his wife, Mr. Blymyer is survived by a sister, Miss Mary Blymyer of Southern Pines, N. C., and a number of cousins, among them Mrs. William McE. Weldon of Mansfield.

The body will be returned to the Finefrock funeral home and services will be held Thursday. Detailed arrangements will be announced later.

Trading Moderate, Stocks Hold to Narrow, Mixed Range

NEW YORK — (AP) — Prices held to a mixed and narrow range in the stock market today with trading only moderately active.

Most of the price changes were confined to fractions. The emphasis was on the higher side, however, and a few issues here and there pushed up a point or more.

Radios, steels and motors were the most popular groups, but they moved in different directions.

An opening burst of activity in radio issues was accompanied by slightly higher prices before they settled down quietly. A number of blocs of Magnovox (at a new high). Radio corporation and Electrical & Musical industries were traded at the opening in a continuation of their popularity displayed Saturday.

Steels wavered ⅛ of a point at a time in a mixed manner, while motors were steady to higher most of the time.

$8,856 Paid In Seal Drive

With 12 days remaining in the 1948 Christmas Seal sale drive, Mrs. H. C. Brokaw, sale chairman, said today that 61 per cent of the $14,500 goal has been reached.

As of Saturday night, $8,856 had been collected. She said 18,692 persons who received the seals have not yet made their returns and cards will be sent early next week reminding them of the sale.

The money will be used to finance the 1949 program of the Richland County Tuberculosis association.

Damage Slight In Two Blazes

Mansfield firemen answered three alarms late yesterday and early today. There were two fires but damage was slight.

At 2:27 a. m. today, Central, No. 2 and No. 4 firemen went to the National Ice company, Wayne and Eclipse streets, where flooring and insulation around a cooler had burned out.

A smoke scare at a home at 176 West Temple court brought out Central station men at 9:32 p. m. yesterday. At 5:48 p. m. Sunday, blazing cleaning fluid in a boiler at the William Wing laundry on North Main street, brought Central and No. 2 station firemen.

Auto Agency Employe Dies

Owen E. Swank, 46, of 157 South Diamond street, died this morning at People's hospital after an extended illness.

GARDEN CLUBS ENTERTAIN HUSBANDS WITH DINNERS

Cottage and Garden Study Groups Give Christmas Programs at Gay Meetings.

TWO Mansfield Garden clubs entertained with Christmas parties for their husbands over the week end. Cottage members held a dinner meeting Saturday evening at Prospect park pavilion with 50 in attendance. The group was seated at a U-shaped table, attractively decorated with holiday appointments.

During a brief business session Mrs. A. C. Tuttle presided and the members voted to buy a bond for the Tuberculosis campaign.

The program for the evening was opened with selections given by 11 carolers from the Mansfield Senior high school, who sang all the best loved Christmas songs.

Gifts, gaily wrapped, decorated the room until the exchange of items. Parts of Christmas greetings were used to find the guests' gift, on which was the other part of the card.

Mrs. J. B. Conard was general chairman of the party, assisted by Mrs. E. C. Frampton, Mrs. George Fox, Mrs. George Smith, Miss Florence Gernhardt and Mrs. O. F. Shively.

The January meeting is scheduled to be held at the Frampton home, Arlington avenue, with Mrs. H. D. Smith associate hostess. The date will be announced later.

Garden Study club members also entertained their husbands at a dinner party, Friday evening at the home of Mrs. George Hout, 63 Sturges avenue. Associate hostesses were Mrs. John Cookman and Mrs. Jessie Clark. Forty places were laid at a long table which was decorated with lighted tapers, greenery and Christmas appointments.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Harold Brenner and Mrs. L. D. Bower. It consisted of contests on gardening and a garden skit, presented by Mr. and Mrs. Bower. A ladies' quartet, composed of Mrs. Dale Patterson, Mrs. Gilmore Hiett, Mrs. Brenner and Mrs. A. J. Barker, sang several numbers. The remainder of the evening was spent in the group singing Christmas carols.

Mrs. Barker, 236 Bowland, will be hostess for the next meeting on Jan. 14, when there will be a guest speaker.

Christmas Theme Used At Club Party

Pleasant Valley Garden club met recently at the home of Mrs. Henry Huber, 821 Arlington avenue, with Mrs. John Meifert as the associate hostess. Fourteen members were present.

Roll call was answered with suggestions on "Christmas Decorations in the Home."

After the short business session, conducted by Mrs. Richard Sturges, a gift exchange was held. Mrs. Richard Shaw won a prize for the most original wrapping.

A dessert course was served at a late hour from a table centered with giant white mums, red tapers and white angels. The Christmas theme was carried out throughout the home. Mrs. Lowell Bailet presided at the table.

The next meeing will be Jan. 13 at the home of Mrs. Robert Fichter, 705 Yale drive, with Mrs. Robert Paxton as the associate.

Auxiliary To Buy Racks

Mrs. Willard Conn, 23 Gibson avenue, was hostess recently to eighteen members of the Prospect Park Auxiliary and four guests, Mrs. Hazel Klein, Mrs. Martha Hagerman, Mrs. Mary Baker and Mrs. E. E. Hartnett. The home was decorated in the Christmas theme.

During the short business session, conducted by the president, Mrs. Burke Schnittke, the members decided to buy several bicycle racks for the parks.

Cards were in play at three tables with the high score going to Mrs. Lena Sohl.

A two-course luncheon was served at the close of the evening. The table was centered with Christmas appointments. A Christmas exchange followed the meeting.

The next business session will be held at the home of Mrs. Burke Brewer, 41 Winwood drive, January 14 at 8 p. m. Mrs. Marjorie Skinner will be the associate hostess for the business meeting.

One apple out of every five and a half produced in the United States is the Delicious variety, grown in the state of Washington.

Basket Filled For Family

The Heigh-Ho club met at the Evergreen's clubrooms recently for a Christmas party with Mrs. Clarence Rist as the hostess.

A basket was filled for a needy family.

Bridge was the diversion of the afternoon with prizes going to Mrs. Blaine Swigart, Mrs. Rist, Mrs. Philip Schmutzler and Mrs. Irilla Wappner.

The next meeting will be Jan. 4 at the home of Mrs. Wappner, 177 South Diamond street. This will be a covered-dish dinner at 12 o'clock noon.

Diane Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin S. Cook, 245 East Arch street, is shown doing a snappy dance routine with Robert Knackstedt, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Knackstedt, 144 Willow. They are being instructed by Miss Marguerite Speas, of the Marguerite Speas Studio of Dance, 61½ North Main street.

Baptist Groups To Convene

Various groups of the Park avenue Baptist church will meet this week in regular session. Samaritan Class members are scheduled to meet Tuesday at 12, noon, for a covered dish dinner and Christmas meeting at the home of Mrs. Howard Boyce, 126 Dawson avenue.

Circle Three will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. with Mrs. W. M. Taylor in charge of the Christmas program. On Wednesday Circle One will meet at 1:30 p. m. with Mrs. W. E. Wygant, 63 Hoffman avenue, and Circle Two will meet with Mrs. Harry Thierlien, 62 Bentley street, at 7:30 p. m. On Friday evening Amoma class members will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. Earl Dickson, 186 Wood street. Mrs. A. L. Clay will be the associate hostess. Mrs. W. M. Taylor will be in charge of the program. There will be election of officers.

Dew is condensed water vapor, and there is always some vapor in the atmosphere.

(ADDITIONAL SOCIETY ON PAGE 12)

Circles To Meet Thursday

Five Circles of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Central Methodist church will meet Thursday for their Christmas parties.

Mrs. G. D. Vonada, 107 Leppo Lane, will entertain members of Circle One at a dessert luncheon at 1 p. m. and a gift exchange.

Circle Two members will meet at the home of Mrs. Ira Seifley, 351 West Third street, for a 1 p. m. dessert luncheon and gift exchange.

Circle Three is to be entertained at the home of Mrs. M. R. Guiher, 313 Ruth avenue, at 8 p. m. and members are to bring a can of food for a needy family. Circle Four will meet at 1 p. m. at the church parlors. Mrs. J. C. Stout, entertaining at the Women's club, will be hostess to members of Circle Six at 7:30 p. m.

Fills Vacancy

GALION — Mrs. Floris Arnold, fifth grade teacher at the East school, has been appointed temporary principal of the school during the absence of C. M. Stover, who is ill. Mrs. Arnold's appointment was approved at a meeting of the Galion board of education this week.

Mansfield Offers Opportunities For Development In Dancing

By MARIAN WEST

YOUR CHILD may be born and reared in Mansfield, a town of approximately 40,000, but his or her opportunities for dance development are equivalent to that of a town of at least three times its size.

Three dance studios, equipped with the most capable and professional staffs, are here to serve you, to aid in the development and growth of your child in dancing and its counterparts.

The oldest school of dance, entering its 26th year of operation, is the Marty Hogan Dance Studio, 17½ Walnut street. Mrs. Clara Hogan has been directing the work there since the death of her husband, Marty, in 1933. She is assisted by Miss Nancy Eversole, of Columbus, who has been studying for the past 13 years under Jack Sherrick and York Fasting, both of Columbus.

"Dancing should be classified as an art form, along with music, painting and drama, rather than an activity in physical education," according to Mrs. Hogan.

She went on to say that from the earliest periods recorded in history down to the present time, dancing is one of the accomplishments that has met with admiration and praise. Whether in religious ceremonies, on the stage or in the home — it has been an important phase of human expression.

Mrs. Hogan stressed integration, personality development, sociability and poise as beneficial results of dance training.

One of Mrs. Hogan's students who has gone on to do professional work is Ralph Whipp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Whipp, 84 Flint street. He is now appearing at the Roxy theater, on the same bill with Mickey Rooney.

The Marguerite Speas Studio of Dance, 61½ North Main, is equipped to bring you the latest routines from New York and Chicago. Miss Speas, who opened her studio in 1935, travels to Chicago to study with the Chicago National Association of Dancing Masters, and for years she was a pupil of the late Ned Wayburn, in New York.

Miss Speas, who specializes in tap work, is assisted by Miss Jackie Pilot, ballet; Mrs. Dolly Beer, acrobatic, and Miss Nellie Fay, ballroom.

"Dancing eradicates almost all self-consciousness in children," Miss Speas said. "The fact that they can do something the average child can't do gives them self-confidence."

Along with the other instructors, Miss Speas recommends at least one to three years of ballet training before toe.

"And toe work should be supplemented with tap work. Those knots in the back of the leg are merely an overstrain on muscles. They are built-up through toe dancing, and should be torn down with an equal amount of tap," she said.

In order to become an accomplished dancer Miss Speas recommends at least 10 to 12 years of study in each line. Four is the youngest age at which she will accept a child and from six to ten they are best.

"At six they are old enough to grasp the idea, but after ten, their bodies aren't quite so limber or relaxed," she continued.

Miss Speas remarked that one of the most important factors in making a good dancer is a sense of rhythm. It is something you are either born with or you spend years in learning.

And she emphasized that a child should never be forced to dance if he has no natural inclination. But not so with practicing. There some form of discipline should be employed.

The Ethyl Battin Dance Academy, 22½ South Main, is conducted on a regular academy basis. Two semesters, each consisting of 18 lessons, complete the year.

Miss Battin was a member of the Radio City Rockettes, New York City, and ballet mistress at the Fox theater, St. Louis, before opening her studio here eight years ago. She is assisted by Miss Margaret Jasinski and Miss Rose Marie Adelsberger.

"Students with professional aspirations are a minority in Mansfield," she said, "but they all take their art form seriously."

Along with the other teachers, she is now conducting baton classes. She stresses rhythm work, tempo and posture coordinated with the twirling, in order to make for grace.

Charlotte Lamberton, deaf dancer on the west coast, and June Imhoff, who has appeared in New York theaters and night clubs, are both former students of Miss Battin.

Delta Chapter Names Officers

Delta chapter, Gamma Gamma Gamma sorority, met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Foster Bell, Glenbeck Lane. Mrs. Harry Hollingsworth presided for the business session, at which time Mrs. Warren Ullom was elected president for the coming season.

Assisting her will be Mrs. J. J. King, vice-president; Mrs. W. C. Leonard, secretary; and Mrs. John Stewart, treasurer.

During the social hour bridge was the diversion with score-prizes awarded to Mrs. Ullom, Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. King. A Christmas gift exchange was held after which refreshments were served.

The next regular meeting will be held Jan. 6 at the home of Mrs. Carl Calver, Western avenue. Installation of officers will be held at that time.

Art Study Club Has Old Fashioned Christmas Party

Thirty - two members of the Art Study Club and three guests, Mrs. C. P. Nye, Mrs. Helen Palmer and Mrs. John Bristor, enjoyed a Christmas party and covered-dish dinner Friday at 12, noon, at the home of Mrs. Edward Becker, 130 Vennum avenue. The assisting hostesses were Mrs. Ralph Race and Mrs. E. J. Osborne.

The tables were decorated with Christmas evergreens and antiques.

Many members of the club were dressed in fashions of our grandmother's day.

"Use of Antiques at Christmas Time" was the title of the program for the day with Mrs. Fred Dippman gave the talk for the group.

The meeting was closed with the singing of Christmas carols.

Grace Episcopal church will be the scene of the next meeting on December 31. The hostesses will be Mrs. Ray J. Hammer, Mrs. George Cairns and Mrs. Lloyd Barr.

The droplets of water in a cloud are electrically charged.

Shown above are a few of the members of the Art Study club who dressed appropriately for the Christmas meeting held Friday at the home of Mrs. Edward Becker, 130 Vennum avenue. The theme of the program was "An Antique Christmas" and "The Use of Antiques at Christmas." Left to right are Mrs. Robert M. Morris, Mrs. Henry Buchan, Mrs. Edward Becker, Mrs. Fred Dippman, Mrs. A. C. Kell, Mrs. Virgil Hartman and Miss Lillian Dickson. Many of the other members dressed in old fashioned costumes for the holiday meeting.

Horoscope

For Tuesday, December 14

THE auguries are exceptionally favorable for the launching and development of affairs of major importance. The mentality and ambitions are keyed to expansive programs, with much progress to be gained by serious study, well-laid plans and executive ability. While material and large scope ideas may gain, with enhanced power and prestige, yet all should be kept within bounds of reason and good sense. Also, health and personal matters call for sound supervision.

Those whose birthday it is are encouraged to give serious thought and preparation to than passing scope and security. High aspirations and distant goals should be given particular attention, with "big business" and ambitious objectives encouraged to grasp substantial support from those in influential positions. Seek capital, and get in line for promotion, enhanced power and business standing, but be discreet in utilizing the social or purely personal element.

A child born on this day should be soundly equipped for a successful and productive life, with its business and personal endowments combining for prosperity and happiness.
